

Political Prestige No Block

Racial Issue
Cost to Kennedy
Won't Slow Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he thinks it is probably right that his advocacy of civil rights legislation is costing him heavily in political prestige and popularity, but he is going ahead.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday that there is "a national crisis of great proportions" over the racial issue that any President would have to meet it.

While he agreed with a questioner that the political cost may be heavy in terms of his expected bid for re-election next year, he said the crisis is at hand "and we are going to deal with it."

"My judgment is that both political parties will finally come to the same conclusion, and that is that every effort should be made to protect the rights of all of our citizens and advance their right to equality of opportunity," he said.

Kennedy made it clear he does not agree with Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., that Negroes should ignore white help in the leadership of the civil rights movement.

Kennedy said that with 10 percent of the population (Negroes) being directly affected, it is a national problem.

"Therefore," he said, "it requires the work of both Negroes and whites."

The President also made it known that he is displeased with some recent Negro demonstrations which he described as fringe actions without further pinpointing them. He said such demonstrations were self-defeating.

A reporter suggested that some of the fever seemed to have gone out of demonstrations recently.

The President said he thinks this is partly because considerable work is being done in all sections by biracial groups and responsible groups in all sections of the country. He noted that Congress is considering legal remedies.

Cap Hearings After Row Among Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—A blistering political row among Senate Commerce Committee members capped today their hearings on President Kennedy's bill to ban racial discrimination in places of public accommodation.

The uproar was touched off by questions by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., put to Minnesota's Democratic Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag who had testified for the bill.

Scott asked Rolvaag if he had voted at the recent Governors Conference in Miami to abolish the resolutions committee but not for the purpose Scott staged. He said there was a full, free, open discussion of civil rights at the conference, with "no gagging" of anyone.

Scott said one Republican governor—meaning Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York—had sought to have action taken on civil rights. He asked if Rolvaag had not joined in voting to table the motion.

Rolvaag replied that the executive committee was directed by a 38-3 vote to study civil rights matters thoroughly and to report back later.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., protested that Scott's questioning was "absolutely unfair and uncalled for."

He said the questions carried a strong implication that Rolvaag had come before the committee to testify for civil rights after having tried to put a gag on the issue at the Governors Conference.

California Youth Accidentally Shot

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—David Martin Francis, 18, of near California, Mo., was reported in critical condition at Memorial Hospital today with a gunshot wound.

Francis told the Highway Patrol his 22 rifle discharged accidentally when he pulled it toward him while sitting beside Highway 87 south of California, waiting for his brother and another boy.

The bullet entered his chest and shoulder, collapsing a lung.

CHANNEL SWIMMER COMFORTED—Claudia McPherson, 17, student nurse from St. James, Manitoba, is comforted on beach near Sandgate, Kent, July 31, after swimming the English Channel from Cape Gris Nez in 17 hours, 7 minutes. She is the youngest girl ever to swim the channel.

To Explore Chances Of More Talks

Secretary Rusk
Leaves Tonight
For Pact Signing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk leaves for Moscow tonight to sign the limited nuclear test ban treaty and to explore the chances of further East-West understanding.

The signing of the treaty, in which the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain pledge to abstain from testing in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water, will be a ceremonial affair Monday.

The pact was initiated last Thursday by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, British science minister, Lord Hailsham, and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister.

Rusk will be accompanied to Moscow by high administration officials and six senators—four Democrats and two Republicans.

He has been invited to remain in the Soviet Union after the signing ceremony, and the Moscow conferences are expected to last three or four days.

To what extent and for how long Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, will participate in these talks was not immediately clear. He, Rusk and Gromyko will sign the treaty in the Kremlin's magnificent St. Catherine Hall.

Khrushchev, officials said, is expected to start the talks with Rusk on Tuesday. The place is undetermined, although Khrushchev is known to have planned a vacation at the Black Sea.

Pulitzer Prize Winning Poet Dead at 55

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Theodore Roethke, 55, Pulitzer Prize winner for poetry in 1954, died Thursday night after being stricken with a heart attack while swimming in a neighbor's pool.

Roethke, a professor of English at the University of Washington, collapsed while standing in shallow water in the pool on Bainbridge Island, across Puget Sound from Seattle. He was pulled from the pool quickly, and volunteer firemen tried to revive him.

He was the author of numerous books and was writing another when he died. He joined the Washington faculty in 1947, and was given the honorary title of "Poet in Residence" last year.

He was born in Saginaw, Mich., where his family owned large greenhouses.

W. D. Behen Chosen To Head IRS Post

William D. Behen, a native Sedalian, has been selected supervisor in charge of the Internal Revenue Service alcohol and tobacco tax office in Columbia, S.C.

Behen, a career civil servant, is currently assigned as group supervisor in the special investigative section in Atlanta. He will assume his new position Sept. 1. He is a graduate of Internal Revenue's management development program and attended the Treasury Law Enforcement Officers Training School in Washington, D.C. Behen is married to the former Norine Adams. They have four children.

The Weather

Fair tonight. Low 71 to 77. Fair to partly cloudy Saturday with a chance of isolated thundershowers. High in 90s.

The temperature Friday was 77 at 7 a. m. and 94 at 1 p. m. Low Thursday night was 74.

The temperature one year ago today was 91; low 57; two years ago, high 89; low 69; three years ago, high 94; low 71.

Lake of Ozark stage: 58.2 feet; 1.8 below full reservoir, down 1.

Racial Issues Discussed By City Panel

Public accommodations such as eating places, hotels and motels, provided the primary concern for the bi-racial citizens committee which met Thursday evening at city hall.

The Rev. William E. Lusk, chairman of the group, said "priorities which would concern the committee" were discussed. He said the "group felt that public accommodations should be the first concern of the group," and stated that the committee members in general felt there was discrimination in some places in Sedalia.

Rev. Lusk said the sources of the discrimination had been discussed, but would not say which ones they were. It was indicated however, that the group intended to contact these places, apparently in an effort to eradicate any undesirable conditions.

Rev. Lusk declined to comment on steps, if any, on which the committee had decided in this direction.

Dr. A. R. Maddox, a committee member, said the organizational aspect of the committee was continued and various problems had been discussed. Dr. Maddox also indicated that contacting various public accommodations had come under discussion.

Mayor L. L. Studer, an ex-officio member of the group, did not attend the meeting.

Others on the committee besides Mayor Studer, Rev. Lusk, and Dr. Maddox are the Rev. J. E. Gilliam, Herbert Jones, Oscar Lawson, Jim Reed and Alvin Heynen.

Regular Council Meet Could be Recessed

The Sedalia City Council is scheduled for its regular meeting Monday night, but may recess until later in the week due to the absence of Mayor L. L. Studer who will be in St. Louis; the possible absence of President Protem E. B. Smith who was called to Nebraska because of the serious illness of his mother; the possible absence of Councilman Robert Bader, who is next senior member of the Council, who is out of the city on business.

With the possible absence of two council members, and Mayor Studer, the remaining six would select one of their number to preside, leaving five councilmen to handle the city business with one presiding.

Mayor Studer will be with Mrs. Studer in St. Louis who is to undergo a major operation at the Missouri Pacific hospital next Monday.

Ward Fails To Respond To Treatment

Osteopath Drifts
Closer to Death
From Pneumonia

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Stephen Ward failed to respond to treatment for an overdose of drugs and bronchial pneumonia and drifted closer to death today.

A spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward's physician "has expressed increasing concern for his patient."

The society osteopath has been in a coma since he took an overdose of drugs Wednesday shortly before he was convicted of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

A medical bulletin from St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward had shown no improvement in the past 12 hours. He was still unconscious.

Julie Gulliver, 23, a red-haired singer who was Ward's daily companion during his trial, told newsmen:

"There's a whole crowd of people right now praying for Stephen to die so that their names won't be mentioned."

Ward, 50, society osteopath and artist, has been in a coma since Wednesday when he took a massive overdose of drugs a few hours before an Old Bailey jury found him guilty of living off the prostitution of Christine Keeler, 21, and Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies, 18.

Ward developed bronchial pneumonia Thursday afternoon. At one point his breathing stopped and he was clinically dead. A breathing machine, applied to an incision in his throat, pumped air into his lungs. A spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward's heart probably stopped also.

The breathing machine is called the Barnett Ventilator. The same machine was used two years ago to save one of Ward's patients—movie star Elizabeth Taylor—from pneumonia.

William Mayne Butcher, secretary of the hospital management committee, said: "Ward is desperately ill—just about half alive."

Scales Checked By Inspector In Operation

The city scales, which were closed Thursday afternoon by an agent of the State Department of Agriculture, were placed back into operation Friday morning.

Dewey Houchens, weighmaster, said a local representative of the Toledo Scale Company inspected the scales at 7 a. m. and made the necessary adjustments.

The scales were closed and a seal put on the apparatus after an inspection was made Thursday by the agriculture department agent. The scales are located just north of Fire Station No. 2 on South Kentucky.

Houchens explained the scales had not been tested since 1960 and he had requested a check be made of the scales for accuracy.

The state found they were off to a degree and were weighing light. Houchens explained with the coming of turkey season and hundreds of trucks using the city scales he felt they should be checked now and so made the request.

US Ban On Weapon Sales To South Africa Announced

Segregation Policies
Reason Behind Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations announced today it is banning by the end of 1963 the sale of all weapons and military equipment to South Africa because of that country's racial segregation policies.

The embargo was disclosed by U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson in a speech before the U.N. Security Council.

Presidential Conference Sidelights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here, in brief, are President Kennedy's views on major subjects that came up Thursday at his news conference:

NUCLEAR TREATY—The Senate, after careful consideration will vote to ratify the agreement to ban nuclear tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. "It would be a great mistake not to."

UNDERGROUND TESTS—The United States intends to continue testing nuclear weapons underground. (Such tests would not be banned by the treaty.)

CIVIL RIGHTS—Indications that his policies on civil rights are costing him heavily in political prestige and popularity are probably right. However, "this is a national crisis of great proportions. My judgment is that both political parties finally will come to the same conclusion, and that is that every effort should be made to protect the rights of all our citizens, and advance their rights to equality of opportunity."

DEMONSTRATIONS—Because the civil rights demonstrations have subsided does not mean that "those of us who are in a position of responsibility should go to sleep and forget the problem, because that is no solution." Still, it may be a good thing that the demonstrations are subsiding, "particularly in their extreme form."

RACIAL INTERMARRIAGE—Whether laws striking at miscegenation also strike at the fundamental right of free men is a matter for the courts to decide. Thus "I am not sure" the government could get involved.

SCHOOL DROPOUTS—Jobs for those without a high school education are decreasing and the government must "intensify our efforts to meet this problem."

Thus, "I am asking all American parents to urge their children to go back to school in September" and $250,000 will be provided out of the presidential emergency fund for guidance counselors this month.

GERMANY—If the Communist East German government signed the nuclear agreement it would not constitute U.S. recognition of the regime, much as Red China's signing of a multilateral treaty on Laos did not mean the United States recognized the Chinese government.

FAR EAST—Chinese troop concentrations north of India's frontier and broadcasts out of Peking indicate "the potentiality is there for a turn for the worse" in the Far East. The United States hopes there will not be a flare-up which would bring a direct conflict "and we cannot say as of yet there have been any actions which would indicate that in a final way that hope would be denied at this time."

CHINA—The growing population of Communist China, the fact that it is surrounded by weaker countries, organization of its government along Stalinist lines and Peking's advocacy of war to advance the Communist cause pose "a menacing situation." The possibility that China might develop into a full-fledged nuclear power in a decade means the United States may face "potentially a more dangerous situation than any we faced since the end of the second war."

NONAGGRESSION PACT—If everyone unilaterally pledges non-aggression as has French President Charles de Gaulle, "then you have a nonaggression pact in a sense." However, the United States is going to follow the procedure of consulting with its allies on the advisability of an East-West agreement "and then go back to the Soviet Union and see what the situation looks like."

SUMMIT—"I don't really see at the present time" that a summit

He spoke after Ghana's Alex Quaison-Sackey had denounced South Africa as an outlaw and asked the council to consider expelling it from the United Nations.

Stevenson told the council the U.S. already had banned the sale of military equipment that might be used by South Africa to enforce its racial apartheid policies and is now ready to make such a ban complete.

He said the ban could not become fully effective before the end of the year because of existing commitments, including the sale of air to air missiles and torpedoes for submarines.

Stevenson denounced South Africa's racial policies as "an evil business" and declared: "My country will support efforts to bring about a change in South Africa."

So far, he said, efforts of the United Nations "have yielded no tangible results. There has been no forward motion. Indeed, there has been retrogression, calculated retrogression."

He called the apartheid policies abhorrent.

Stevenson urged that the council try to bring about the change through measures of peaceful settlement rather than through coercion.

He made no specific proposal, but said the United States has looked with favor on the appointment of a special U.N. representative who would exercise his own ingenuity in seeking a solution.

'Blue Plate' Fashion Show Latest 'Fad'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—That's funny, you think, walking into the dim, cool restaurant from the blazing noon outside. That girl by the end booth seems to be naked.

Not quite, you realize, as your eyes adjust to the gloom. She's wearing something. It looks like a leopard skin bikini.

A bikini? At high noon? In a restaurant?

"Hi!" says the blue-eyed blonde, when she gets to your booth. "Like my suit? It's simulated leopard. Helanca stretch. It's $22.98, or $19.98 in plain colors."

That's right. It's for sale. You have just walked into what must surely be the ultimate in dry goods merchandising: The blue plate special fashion show.

About noon each day tiring businessmen crowd into suburban bistros to see what two martinis and a club sandwich will do for the state of the world.

And 50 times each week, in Southern California suburbs from the foothills to the sea, the men get something extra: a fashion review.

The number of fashion shows presented each week is steadily growing, despite the dark suspicions of countless wives and barbed comments by innumerable secretaries.

Writ Filed In Behalf Of Calhoun Man Now Serving Life Term

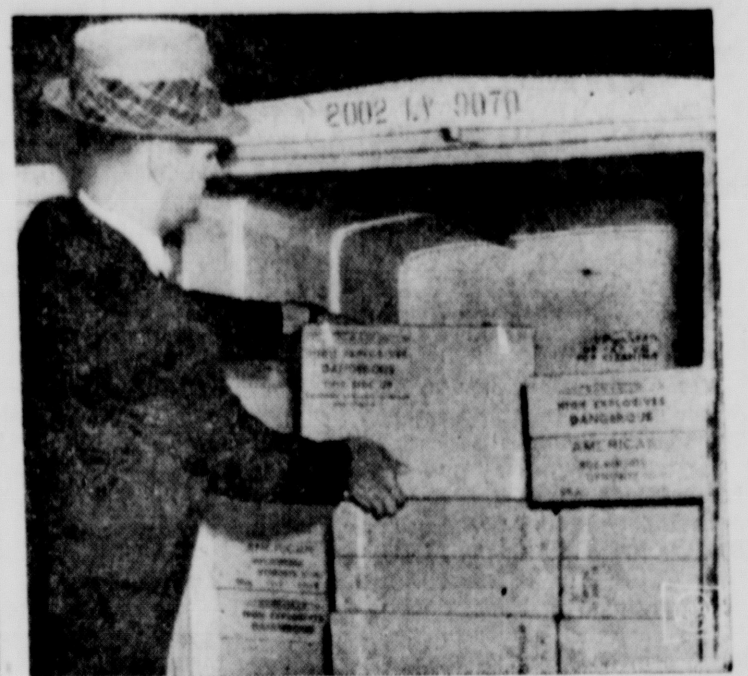

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A writ of habeas corpus was filed in U.S. District Court today for Ritz Richardson, Calhoun, Mo., farmer serving a life sentence in the Missouri Penitentiary for the slaying of an Adrian, Mo., man, five years ago.

He was sentenced Dec. 30, 1958, in the Henry County Circuit Court at Clinton after he pleaded guilty in the death of Tom Gregg, a saw mill operator and the father of eight children.

His petition alleged his guilty plea was entered against his wishes and under duress and that he wanted a jury trial but was compelled by his attorney to plead guilty. The petition said the state's only witness, Sam Eversole, died prior to the sentencing.

On Late Tax Filing

Former Law Dean In Guilty Plea

NEW YORK (AP)—James M. Landis, former dean of Harvard Law School and special adviser to President Kennedy, pleaded guilty today in federal court to late filing and payment of income taxes for five years.

He explained that the pressure of involvement in public affairs had compounded a situation brought about by the sale of inherited securities "to meet a pressing family need."

The U.S. attorney for Manhattan said the charges were filed because Landis "did not meet government standards of voluntary disclosure." The returns were "all filed recently," the prosecutor added.

The case involves income totaling more than $310,000.

Landis, 63, who has held high government posts and was a special assistant to President Kennedy in 1961, had been charged with five counts of failure to file what were termed "timely" income tax returns for the years 1956 through 1960.

The lawyer and educator was released in his own custody for sentencing Aug. 30 by Judge Edward McLean.

The charges are misdemeanors carrying a maximum penalty of a year's imprisonment and $10,000 fine for each count.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said that Landis subsequently filed returns for the years in question and paid the taxes due. Landis also had offered full cooperation in the investigation, Morgenthau said.

Landis, born in Tokyo of American parents, served as law dean at Harvard from 1937 to 1946.

He also has been general counsel to the American Mercantile Exchange, a special trial examiner for the U.S. Department of Labor, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board and has served as a member or consultant to various governmental agencies and commissions.

He once was a Supreme Court law clerk to Justice Louis Brandeis and served Kennedy as an efficiency expert, advising on federal regulatory agencies.

Dean William Warren of the Columbia University Law School represented Landis in court today and read an explanation of the defendant's failure to file returns promptly.

Morning Break-Ins Plague City

Early morning break-ins continue to plague Sedalia police and one Friday at a downtown jewelry store represents the greatest loss in the long series of unsolved burglaries in the past few months.

Police Officer Joe Bass discovered the forced entry at Gem Dandee Jewelry Store; 225 South Ohio, at 5:30 a.m. Friday.

Entry had been gained by breaking a large hole in the front plate glass window of the establishment. The thieves then reached in and helped themselves to about 19 sets of matched diamond wedding ring sets.

Jim Reed, proprietor, set the retail value of the missing rings at $800. Reed said the thieves dropped five rings on the sidewalk as they departed.

Most of the recent rash of burglaries have been minor. The Gem Dandee loss is the greatest in spite of the Canteen Service Company burglary on June 24 in which $1,566.70 was taken.

Most of the Canteen Service loss was recovered when authorities arrested three Springfield, Mo., men for the crime.

Gem Dandee has been a burglar's target before. Nov. 15, 1960, the front glass window was broken and loss was estimated at $1,000.

April 18 of this year an attempted break-in was found at the establishment. A hole had been knocked in the front window, but no loss was reported.

Announcement May Aid Pact Ratification

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's announcement the United States will continue underground weapons testing may aid his drive for Senate ratification of the limited nuclear treaty.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday that subterranean tests will continue. They are excluded from the agreement reached with the Soviet Union and Britain prohibiting testing in the atmosphere, space and underwater.

This may alleviate the fears of some senators that this country might voluntarily put a moratorium on such tests in an effort to get the complete ban toward which Kennedy said the United States will keep on striving.

It also served notice that American efforts to perfect more effective nuclear weapons will continue with the kind of experiments scientists generally estimate cover 30 percent of the nuclear development field.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who has been dubious about the treaty, indicated that his decision would be influenced by what he finds out about the underground program. Jackson is chairman of the Senate-Atomic Energy subcommittee dealing with weapons.

Investigator Post To James Newland

The Pettis County Court has named James Newland as investigator for the Pettis County Welfare Department and medical plan for indigent people.

The county's portion of the program had been administered by Mrs. Roseanne Dugan Johns prior to her retirement July 31. The state Department of Welfare named Alvin Cole to succeed Mrs. Johns.

Newland has been serving the welfare office as a case investigator.

OBITUARIES

Dell J. Imberger (Sedalia)

Dell J. Imberger, 72, 509 East Fourth, died at 7:45 a.m. Friday at Springfield, Mo., where he had been in a hospital for the past several weeks.

Well known in the Sedalia area, Mr. Imberger was employed for many years in the circulation department of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital, later operating Dell's shop in the 100 block on West Third, and still later at his home. He was not only an expert fisherman but made and sold fishing flies.

The body will be brought to McLaughlin Chapel, Mrs. Imberger was in Springfield with him at the time of his death.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mrs. Cecil L. Lopp (Sedalia)

Mrs. Cecil Lucille Lopp, 68, 1421 West Third, died at 6:50 p.m. Thursday at Bothwell Hospital.

She was born Nov. 26, 1894, in LaMonte, daughter of the late John Elliott and Nellie Wise Lang. She was married to Rollo J. Lopp, Dec. 27, 1939, in Jefferson City. He survives of the home.

Also surviving are a brother, Roy Lang, New Franklin; several nephews and a niece, Mrs. Howard Farrell, Cardiff-by-the-Sea, Calif., who was reared by Mrs. Lopp and her mother. The niece will be unable to attend the services because of ill health.

Mrs. Lopp was a member of the First Christian Church and the Christian Women's Fellowship.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Gillespie Funeral Home with the Rev. Harry Purviance, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens and Mrs. W. L. Lewis will sing "No Night There" and "Peace, Perfect Peace," accompanied by Mrs. H. O. Foraker, organist.

Pallbearers will be Don Tugle, Leroy Hodges, Lawrence Brown, W. H. Shockey, Dick Lang and Hall Pledge.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery. The body is at the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Mrs. Bessie M. Jageman, 87, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Lowman, 1416 South Washington, at 9 a.m. Friday. She had been ill for the past three years.

She was born near Butler, March 25, 1876, the daughter of the late John and Matilda Webster Newman. She lived most of her life in Henry and Johnson counties. She has lived in Sedalia since 1952.

She was married at Clinton, Feb. 10, 1896 to August E. Jageman. They were the parents of four children. One son, Robert L. Jageman, died Jan. 30, 1963 at Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Jageman was one of a family of nine children. She was preceded in death by all her brothers and sisters.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Hazel Lowman, 1416 South Washington, Mrs. Dwight (Violet) Thrush, Clinton; one son, Raymond Jageman, San Antonio, Tex.; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. Roy B. Stribling, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial will be in the Englewood Cemetery at Clinton.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Mrs. Nadine Brink (Marshall)

Mrs. Nadine Fay Jones Brink, 54, Marshall, was found drowned in a pond on the Summer Brothers farm, Route 5, five miles northeast of Sedalia, Thursday evening. She had been reported missing since Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Brink's body was found floating face down in the pond by C. W. Summers, one of the farm owners, and Fred Stimpfel, Route 2, who had gone there to fish and run trout lines. Summers reported the body was noted near the overflow of the dam and they immediately notified Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, accompanied by Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, coroner, went to the scene to investigate.

Dr. Stauffacher said the body had been in the water at least two days at the time she was found. The body was taken to the Ewing Funeral Home and after talking with relatives, Dr. Stauffacher said an inquest was not necessary.

According to relatives, Mrs. Brink had been despondent and had indicated before that she would take her life. She left her home at Marshall, Tuesday morning and came to Sedalia and met her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rose Hausman, at the Midwest Auto Stores warehouse on South Hancock. Later Mrs. Hausman drove Mrs. Brink down town and let her out of the car in front of the Sedalia Bank and Trust Co. That was the last time Mrs. Hausman saw her.

The body was identified by Mrs. Hugh Jones at Ewings. Mrs. Hausman made positive identification of clothing shown her.

Her disappearance was reported to the State Highway Patrol, and her brother, Homer, was to make a report to Sheriff Fairfax, arriving at the county jail a few minutes after a report had been received a woman had been found drowned.

Dr. Stauffacher said there was no indication of foul play.

Mrs. Brink is a former Sedalian as is her husband, Edward Brink, supervisor of maintenance for the State Highway Department in Saline County. She was born Jan. 20, 1909, daughter of the late Henry Frank and Amelia Jones.

She was reared and educated in the Sedalia schools, graduating from the Smith-Cotton High School and later attended the Central Missouri State College. For a couple of years she taught at the old Brown school northwest of Sedalia prior to her marriage to Mr. Brink.

They have resided in Marshall since 1929.

One of a family of four children, she was preceded in death by one brother, Olin Jones, who died at the age of two years.

She was married at Sedalia, Dec. 24, 1928, to Edward W.

Brink. They were the parents of one daughter.

Mrs. Brink is survived by her husband of the family home, 832 South English, Marshall; and a daughter, Mrs. Dan Ferguson, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; two brothers, Homer Jones, Route 3, and Hugh Jones of Raytown, a former Sedalian.

Funeral services will be at the Ewing Funeral Home at 10 a.m. Saturday. The Rev. Arnold Prater, pastor of the Methodist Church in Marshall, will officiate. Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery. The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Mrs. Ralph Wheeler (LaJunta, Calif.)

Mrs. Ralph (Opal) Wheeler, LaJunta, Calif., a native Sedalian and newspaper woman, died July 26 at Mennonite Hospital in LaJunta, following an illness of six years. She has been hospitalized for the past two and one half years.

She was born Jan. 31, 1904 in Sedalia.

Surviving are: two sons, John Wheeler, who is with Associated Press in Kuala Lumpur, federation of Malaya; Ralph Wheeler, Jr., Palo Alto, Calif.; her mother, Mrs. A. N. Lamm, LaJunta; a sister, Mrs. Morris (Mary Louise) Simms, Redondo Beach, Calif.; and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Wheeler was trained as a newspaper woman at the University of Missouri, where she was graduated with a bachelor of arts in 1928. She went to El Paso, Tex., to work on the Scripps-Howard paper there, The News.

In El Paso she met a news advertising salesman, whom she married in 1929. The Wheelers bought the Newcastle Republican in Newcastle, Ind. They published the Republican for a year, sold it, and purchased partial interest in the LaJunta Democrat, later acquiring all the stock. In 1944 the Wheelers purchased The LaJunta News and The Tribune, a consolidated paper and named the paper The Tribune-Democrat.

When Mr. Wheeler died in 1945, Mrs. Wheeler continued to publish her paper until May of 1946, when she sold it. In the fall of 1946 she accepted a staff position at LaJunta Junior College. She went back to the University of Missouri for summer sessions and obtained her masters degree and taught.

Wheeler Library, on the campus of Otero Junior College, was named in honor of Mrs. Wheeler, who for almost 15 years had been on the staff as director of publicity and publications, in recognition of "Mrs. Wheeler's contribution to the growth of the college and the development of high academic standards." During the time as publicity director, she organized a course in journalism and contributed to development of courses in English, shorthand and typing, all of which she at one time taught.

Funeral services were held July 29 in LaJunta. The Rev. Paul Snider, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church officiated.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, LaJunta.

ing groups and fashion salons have termed the bistro offerings mere "skin shows." One newspaper denounced them as immoral.

The whole thing started about four years ago by a restaurant owner with a bored, male lunch-eater trade and a lingerie store owner who couldn't get men into her shop.

The lingerie lady draped the fluff on statuesque girls, and marched them past the businessmen at the restaurant.

After the first shock things worked out this way:

Businessmen crowded into the fashion show restaurants to ogle and chat with pretty girls clad in bikinis, baby dolls, negligees, bathing suits and the like.

The restaurants found themselves with a show so spectacular the customers forgot to complain about the service.

And the lingerie sales were terrific.

"The average man doesn't want to go into a lingerie shop to pick out something for his wife," said Merrydell Bell, a retailer who was staging a show in a San Gabriel Valley restaurant. "Here they can see just what it looks like, make their selection, and I go out to the car, get it, and gift wrap it on the spot."

One of the models, dark-eyed Renee Mishkin, paused to explain what it's like to wander around a crowded restaurant in a nightgown.

"Oh, it shakes you up, at first," said Renee, 27, happily married, and the mother of two boys and a girl. "It takes a while to get used to. I live in Hollywood, 20 miles away, so I rarely see anyone who knows me."

"But I look across a table now and then and there's someone I know. Once it was my husband who dropped in. It shakes you up, all right."

Renee was a garment district fashion model in New York before coming to Los Angeles.

"I get $10 a show, four or five days a week, plus a commission on anything I sell," she said. "This way I can make $70 a week for just a few hours' work."

So the girls make good money, the businessmen go back to work cheered and refreshed, their wives get negligees for birthdays, and the restaurants prosper.

Who gets hurt?

"Us," said one of four girls sitting together at a table. "We're secretaries. We have to buy our own lunches. And negligees? Are you kidding?"

after she was stricken with a heart attack.

Mrs. Garton was the widow of the late Clifford Garton, who died in 1919.

She was preceded in death by one sister, Mrs. Minnie Harris, who died in 1961, and one brother, Charles Doherty, who died in 1958.

She is survived by one son, Captain W. C. Garton, Camp Pendleton, Calif., who is enroute to Sedalia.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

William H. Glasgow

meeting "would serve a useful purpose."

STUDENTS — In regard to a group of U.S. students who are in Cuba, "their passports are going to be lifted when they come back here. Some of the leadership, it seems to me, are definitely Communists." The students "should have some concern for the security and foreign policy objectives of the United States."

ANTIMISSILE — "The problem of developing a defense against a missile is beyond us and beyond the Soviets technically," although the United States will continue to work on the matter.

MULTILATERAL — A "multilateral force represents the best solution to hold the alliance together" and nothing has happened of late to lessen "the need on both sides of the Atlantic for the closest cooperation on military matters, on economic matters, on political matters, on foreign policy matters."

LATIN AMERICA—Efforts of the Alliance for Progress should be intensified. The problems in Latin America "are almost insuperable." While the United States ignored them for years, there is now a common recognition "that there is the necessity for revolution in Latin America. In my opinion, it can be peaceful."

Circuit Servant To Visit Local Witnesses Hall

The Sedalia congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be visited by S. A. Jensen, circuit supervisor, who is a traveling minister and a representative of the Watchtower Society. His visit starts

ADDITIONAL CHURCHES

(On Pages 2 and 14)

Aug. 4 and will continue through Aug. 11.

He and his wife will assist and instruct the local congregation in the various features of the house-to-house ministry.

Kingdom Hall will be the center of much activity, as several talks are scheduled for the week. Saturday night, August 10, at 8:00 p.m. a special service talk will be given, the title, "Assisting Others to Baptism For Life." During the evening there will be an interesting discussion on "New Things Learned."

Sunday at 3 p.m. Jensen will give a public talk entitled, "Is Your Destiny of Your Own Making?" This talk will answer such questions as, Are you a victim of fate? And, Is God responsible for what happens to you?

Following this talk will be the weekly Watchtower study, using the July 1, 1963 issue, the subject, "Seeking Maturity in the New World Society." Paragraphs 9:35, page 402. After this study, Jensen will complete his week's activities with a short talk.

'Gateway to Heaven' Is Sermon Subject At Christian Church

The topic chosen by Rev. Cleo Gray, East Broadway Christian Church, for his sermon at the morning worship hour is "The Gateway to Heaven." Miss Catherine Garman at the organ will play as Prelude, "Morning Prelude" by Loucks; Offertory, "Reverie" by Mitchell; Postlude, "A Song Of Hope" by Mitchell. The choir will sing a special under Mrs. Leaton's direction.

No title has been given for the evening worship as Rev. Stan Wohlenhaus will deliver the sermon. Wohlenhaus is a missionary soon to go to Brazil, along with his family. He will also show slides of the people and the country of Brazil during the evening.

Wohlenhaus has been the missionary speaker at the WCCS Camp the past week.

They are both students of the Ozark Bible College in Joplin, he being a graduate.

There were 82 students enrolled the past week at the WCCS Camp during Intermediate Week. This includes students who will be in the seventh, eighth and the ninth grades during the coming school year. Approximately 14 of these were from East Broadway.

The dean of this session was Rev. Roy Smith, who is pastor of the LaMonte Christian Church. Gray was born father in the boy's dormitory and Mrs. Gray was the dorm mother for the girls.

Choir practice will be at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Dr. Lindley To Speak At Federated

Dr. Glenn Lindley, Biloxi, Miss., former pastor of the Federated First Congregational-Central Presbyterian Church, will speak before its congregation Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Dr. Lindley, with his wife, will be visiting in Sedalia for a few days. He has chosen for his subject, "The Search For Life's Meaning."

Mrs. Don Lamm, Jr., will sing "Hold Thou My Hand."

Miss Mabel DeWitt, organist, will play the following: Prelude, "Adagio" by Ries; offertory, "Melody" by Tchaikowski; postlude, "Festival March" by Handel.

Greeting the congregation at the doors will be Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Van Wagner, Sr.

Altar floral arrangements will be by Mrs. Edna Carman in memory of Mrs. Charles Bard.

Following this service, Sunday morning worship services will be discontinued for four weeks until Sept. 8 while the church auditorium undergoes renovation. Sunday School will be held each Sunday at 9:30 a.m. during this period.

$50 Loan Was Start For 'Inns'

Kemmons Wilson, whose name has won nationwide fame for his record as a home-builder and founder of Holiday Inns of America, Inc., got his start in the proverbial Horatio Alger fashion. He parlayed a $50 loan into a fabulous business empire.

With the Holiday Inns increasing at the rate of one a week, and with his apartment houses and home-building activities—an estimated 2,500 new homes since World War II—demanding his attention, his wife shrugged her shoulders and commented, "I can't keep up with him."

Mr. Wilson, who was born in 1913 in Osceola, Ark., was nine months old when his father died. His mother became the sole means of support for herself and the child.

They moved to Memphis. Young Kemmons went to Idlewild School and then to Central.

His first job, at the age of 14, ended in a setback. Delivery boy for a drug store, he was struck by a car and stayed in a cast for a full year, waiting for his right leg—it had a compound fracture—to heal.

His mother worked day and night to pay the doctors' bills. He had to quit Central School two months before he would have been graduated to take a full-time job and help with expenses when his mother became ill.

Then came the $50 loan which he used to buy a few second-hand amusement machines.

In succession, he built a small house on Poplar near Ridgeway Country Club, got a jukebox distributorship and sold the house for a profit.

Later he bought a movie house, the De Soto in Fort Pickering. In 1941 Mr. Wilson married the former Dorothy Lee of Memphis. Then with her help and that of his mother, Mrs. Ruby Lloyd Wilson, he operated the Airways Theatre on Lamar.

While serving as a flight officer pilot for the Air Transport Command at Memphis Municipal Airport, Mr. Wilson built nine houses—18 units—and rented them only to servicemen caught in the housing pinch. Later he was on duty in India.

He went into the home-building business in a big way after returning to civilian life in 1946. At the same time, he was in the supply business and theatre business, with movie houses in St. Louis and Louisville, Ky.

In 1952, after a summer vacation trip with his family, the idea to enter the motor hotel business came with the comment that he considered it "the greatest untapped business in the country."

In 1963, with more than 350 Holiday Inns in operation and approximately 200 more under construction or planned, Kemmons Wilson is a very busy man. Many businessmen come to Memphis to discuss the possibility of buying a Holiday Inn franchise—and they ask for Kemmons Wilson.

S-C Class of 1933 To Hold Reunion

The class of 1933, Smith-Cotton High School, will hold its 30th reunion at Convention Hall, Liberty Park, Sunday, to which the husbands, wives and children of the members have been invited, as well as members of the faculty who taught at that time.

A picnic style dinner will be served at the noon hour, for which reservations have been made from all over the United States.

Many in the area have not made reservations but are welcome to come during the afternoon without reservations if they care to see former members of the class.

An informal get-together for members of the class and their husbands and wives will be held

On Chisholm Trail

The Holiday Inn of Wichita, Kan., is near the old farm of Jesse Chisholm, whose first trip over what later became known as the Chisholm Trail was to trade with the Indians. The Chisholm Trail really became active when the Santa Fe built a railroad into Wichita in 1872.

at the Old Missouri Homestead Saturday night, and there is no reservation necessary for this.

"Inns" Preferred By Holiday

The people at Holiday Inns of America, Inc., would rather have their units called "inns." Kemmons Wilson, chairman of the board, states:

"They are not complete hotels nor complete motels, but offer services of both."

"We feel the combination of services makes for more comfort and convenience than are found in a hotel or motel alone."

At 360 Holiday Inns

Staff of Inspectors Keep Innkeepers On Their Toes

Hardly a day passes at the Holiday Inns home office in Memphis without at least one visitor jokingly posing the question: "Say, don't you need someone like me on your payroll to visit all the inns and give you a report?"

Imagine his surprise at the response: "Why, yes, as a matter of fact we do — would you like to fill out an application?"

Of course, most of the time there is no opening — but there may be one in the near future as Holiday Inns' inspection department continues to expand. Right now, there are six full-time inspectors whose job it is to do just what the visitor asked — they visit all the inns and give the home office a report. But as you've guessed by now, a Holiday Inn inspector's job is by no means a traveling vacation.

It works like this: To insure that guests will receive consistent quality in service, food and lodging, each Holiday Inn in the entire system is thoroughly inspected four times each year.

An inspector always stops at an inn unannounced. The innkeeper never knows when to expect him, and — in most cases — doesn't recognize his face when he finally reveals his identity. The reason is that inspection territories are rotated every three months, so it would take a year-and-a-half for the same inspector to return to the first inn on his list.

Holiday Inn inspectors travel by car and plane, and a spot-check of one inspector's speedometer showed over 54,000 miles in a year. His air-mileage, though he kept no record, would be "astronomical," he said.

Armed with specific instructions and a check-list that makes the income-tax "long form" seem short by comparison, an inspector sets out on his serious mission of making sure that Holiday Inns everywhere meet the high standards required by Holiday Inns of America, Inc.

As the inspector enters the vicinity of a particular Holiday Inn, he checks the appearance of the outdoor advertising boards and the "Great Sign" (the neon sign in front of each inn that is the Holiday Inn Trade Mark). Every sign must be in first-rate condition, adequately lighted and attractive. Incidentally, the required shrubbery beneath the Great Sign must be wellkept or points will be deducted.

While he is outside the inn, he studies the overall appearance of everything from the landscaping to the dog kennels. At the swimming pool, the inspector measures the chlorine content of the water, the availability of life-saving aids and the condition of the mechanical equipment.

When the inspector enters the lobby (remember, he is arriving unannounced), the human element begins to enter in. He carefully notes the reception and greeting he receives, since the employees' attitude toward the guest is the prime factor in guest satisfaction.

Before he checks in, the inspector will note the appearance of the lobby and all the elements Holiday Inns are required to maintain for the comfort of the guest — including the Church Directory.

The inspector makes sure that the inn is making no charge for children under 12 when they share a room with their parents, and that the teletype for free advance reservations is working properly.

At this point, the inspector will pick out a number of rooms at random, and begin his inspection accompanied by the innkeeper (since points may be deducted, the inspector wants the innkeeper to see for himself what the deductions are for).

This inspection is reminiscent of the "white glove" Captain's Inspection that the navy is so famous for! Everything must be clean, orderly, in good condition, and everything must be accounted for and in its place, including the Gideon Bible, the Do-Not-Disturb Card, the shoeshine cloth — even to the four sterilized glasses.

After he has inspected a minimum of ten rooms, he moves on to the restaurant. As much as he would like to order the top steak on the menu, the inspector usually settles for the specialty of the day to see for himself what everyone else gets. This way there's little chance that he will receive a preferred meal, since the inspector notes the time required for service as well! He doesn't miss a thing in the dining room — he looks for everything from hospitality to hairnets!

The inspector's critical eye then ventures to the kitchen. Every stove, refrigerator and storage space is gone over thoroughly. Even the temperature of the rinse water is checked to be sure it comes up to the required 180 degrees. Since food-handling affects all guests, the inspector spends a major portion of his time carefully searching the kitchen area before he makes his report.

About the time the innkeeper is ready to sound a sight of relief, the inspector announces he will spend the night! Incidentally, the inspector spends about 25 nights a month in Holiday Inns. One inspector said that if he is awakened during the night, he may not know what city he's in, but he certainly knows where the light switches are!

Before checking out, the inspector renders his report. Of a possible 2200 points, a score of 2075 is considered good. If less, the innkeeper is advised to correct the situation.

In fact, if an inn falls below the minimum number of required points, the innkeeper is given a brief period to upgrade his operation, and the inn is re-inspected. If then the inn is not judged to be up to standards, the franchise may be revoked.

It's easy to see why the inspection system has proved to be the most effective means of enforcing Holiday Inn standards. By insisting that each inn be a quality operation, everyone benefits. The owner, by having a first-rate inn, is assured of more business. The system gains, with every inn being upgraded constantly, and the guest benefits most of all. He is assured of the consistent quality in service, food and lodging to which he is justly entitled.

And now that you know more about the "traveling vacation" that Holiday Inn inspectors enjoy so much, do you still want the job?

Large Personnel Force Kept Hopping At Inns

If you could put together one coach, a bank teller, two telephone operators, two taxicabs, and some 60 other miscellaneous personnel, ranging from a bartender to a night auditor, you would have assembled a crew capable of running a Holiday Inn for one day. The Innkeeper is the overseer of this big family. Certainly such a task would prove no holiday for the average business man.

As a guest at a standard 108-unit Holiday Inn chances are that you will be totally unaware that there are 65 trained personnel serving you each day. Approximately 50 of these persons work behind-the-scenes. Just as any stage hand is important to the production of a Broadway play, these employees are vital in the operation of a Holiday Inn.

You will meet the head of the family, the Innkeeper, and perhaps the assistant Innkeeper. You may come in contact with one of the six desk clerks, five porters, or ten maids, and possibly the restaurant manager. The bartender is ready to lend an ear to any and all tales.

Your chances of meeting the other 39 members of the family are small aside from the "service" personnel of one bar waitress, two cashier-hostesses, 12 waitresses and two bus girls. They include two maintenance men, one houseman, one housekeeper, one night auditor, one assistant housekeeper, three laundry workers, one assistant restaurant manager, one morning cook, one evening cook, two pantry workers, four "warewashers," and one relief cook.

The average Holiday Inn can count (each day) on cashing about 75 checks; handling 500 local and 50 long distance calls, and turning off and on over 2500 light bulbs.

The average guest uses about one of the three bars of soap in his room every three days, and about seven Kleenex tissues each day. He also has 32,000 gallons of water available to him for his leisure splashing (in the swimming pool, that is). Four hundred and thirty-two pillow cases, 500 towels, 324 bars of soap, and 324 packs of book matches are additional supplies for guest rooms.

With so many trained personnel to serve you and such a variety of "little" conveniences, it is no wonder that a pleasant stay awaits you on your next visit to one of the more than 375 Holiday

Inns throughout the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico.

Standards Are Rigid At Inns

Over 70 of the more than 360 Holiday Inns now operating in the United States are owned outright by the parent company, Holiday Inns of America, Inc.

The others, like Sedalia's, are operated by licensees or franchisees, but all of them have to live up to rigid standards to protect the magic Holiday Inn name, according to Kemmons Wilson, chairman of the board.

As a result, systematic inspections are made of all Holiday Inns to insure proper operation. Mr. Wilson stated. Most of the inspection work falls the lot of six inspectors, who spend much of their time traveling about the country.

"All the inspections are surprise inspections," explains Mr. Wilson. "So no one has a chance to get ready for them. They have to be on their toes all the time."

Inspections are most thorough, extending even to the attitude of personnel toward the public. This, Mr. Wilson holds, is most important.

"I think the inspectors are tougher on the units owned outright by us than on any of the others," Mr. Wilson continues. "That's proper, for we sure ought to set the example."

Aided Climb to Success

There's almost always a woman behind it all, and in the case of the business success of Kemmons Wilson, chairman of the board of Holiday Inns of America, Inc., and head of a number of other enterprises, there are two women.

One is Mrs. Ruby L. Wilson, Kemmons' mother, who has been a business partner ever since Kemmons started his career. She is known to all as "Doll."

The other is his wife, who has had time to rear five children, and still help her husband in a business way also.

Golden Silence of Experts

In America today, the man who masters a specialty of major consequence, like space or nuclear or military science, is sometimes judged to be an expert in fields beyond his own.

To some degree this has perhaps always been so in this country. When industrialists were building America in earlier decades, they were listened to on everything under the sun.

Yet there is great danger in imagining that the man with expertise in one realm is thereby qualified to make broad political, economic or moral judgments.

For instance, the scientist who works at improving our nuclear weapons is not by that fact necessarily fit to tell us when and how, as a nation, to use them or to say we should not use them at all.

Similarly, the general who spends a great deal of his time fathoming the military tactics of communist nations is not by that alone qualified to judge best what we should do about Red tactics in the political and diplomatic world.

A number of prominent men get into this problem in a new document prepared for the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, a Ford Foundation offshoot.

Charles Frankel, professor of philosophy at Columbia University, says most political decisions involve weighing evidence from a wide range of different specialties. He adds: "This means that even those who are experts in one field become laymen the moment they move into another field."

"No one today can be an expert in all the fields that he should ideally be... to make public decisions."

What counts in such decisions, says Frankel, is not "omnipotent knowledge but something closer to wisdom and common sense, and an understanding of when and where and for what reasons to rely on the advice of experts."

As another contributor to the document, Arkansas Sen. J. William Fulbright, observes, this kind of judgment is especially required where matters of morals are concerned.

"There are no experts in morals," says Frankel.

A subject apart is how to get wise, broad, common sense judgments from both the rank and file electorate and the political leadership in a democracy.

It is enough here to make the one big point: "Expertise" does not transfer. The major public decisions involving our goals, our moral bent, our pace of effort, our priorities in national life, are not the province of the narrow specialist — however supreme he is in his chosen field.

A committee was named to present the proposal to the mayor and city council with the suggestion the latter appoint a committee of 15 citizens to further investigate the purchase plan. Those on the original committee were: Charles E. Yeater, chairman; Ira E. Melton, Robert M. Johns, Grant Crawford, C. E. Messerly, Sr. and H. L. Terry.

DENVER POST: Tell It To Fidel.—Fidel Castro has threatened to attack British and French islands in the Caribbean on which he, Castro, says Cuban exiles are maintaining bases.

We are in no position to know whether such bases exist. But Castro's statement stirs the spirit. It is exhilarating to think that somewhere there may be a government that is not afraid of hurting the Communist dictator's feelings, as our government seems at times to be.

Perhaps Castro is just talking to scare the Western European powers into taking extra precautions against the establishment of such bases, or perhaps he is just making propaganda. He may, also, unintentionally, be putting the Kennedy administration on the spot, because the administration is on record with the warning that it will act to counter military operations by Castro against others in this hemisphere.

In any case, we hope the British and French will set Castro straight on one point: That they aren't frightened. That would be refreshing.

The World Today

The Depths of An American Dilemma

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's very vagueness about two of his constant headaches, France and Red China, one an ally and one an enemy, show the depths of an American dilemma which may last for years.

1. The Chinese Dilemma—What to expect when the Red Chinese have nuclear bombs, although they may make plenty of trouble before they do, and what to expect when the present generation of old-time leaders is gone.

2. The French Dilemma—How to get along now with President De Gaulle, in order to keep the Western Alliance together, and then what to expect when this old-timer is also gone.

Last Monday, a few days after the United States, Britain and Russia agreed to a limited nuclear test ban, De Gaulle said he would not join so long as they continue to produce nuclear arms. They didn't agree to it.

He also said he wanted no part of something else. This was Premier Khrushchev's suggestion of a nonaggression treaty between the Western partners and their opposite number, Russia and its European satellites.

Ever since Monday—and it is understood the orders came from the White House—the State Department has clammed up on the subject of De Gaulle, saying practically nothing about his obstructionism.

Reporters were told President Kennedy would do the talking at his news conference Thursday. He talked but in a very real sense said nothing, giving no indication this country has yet figured out how to get De Gaulle to play ball.

What he seemed to express was bafflement.

Was this country considering giving some of its nuclear secrets to De Gaulle, secrets which might make it unnecessary for him to test in order to persuade him not to? Kennedy glossed over this.

He said what was already known: That De Gaulle had turned down this country's offer of Polaris missiles, an offer the British accepted. He said this country had made some suggestions to De Gaulle about cooperation but got no reply.

But even if the icy De Gaulle melted a bit, cooperated, and stopped being a problem, this country couldn't even guess at what might come when De Gaulle, now 72, is out of the picture.

The French government has been the most chaotic and unstable in Western Europe since the war. De Gaulle had to come out of retirement and take over the presidency to put it on its feet. That may be strictly temporary.

When he finally departs any one of a number of things may happen: More chaos, civil war, a dictatorship of the right or left.

The Red Chinese, breaking with Russia and determined to make their own nuclear weapons, not only refuse to join the test ban agreement but call the whole thing a fraud.

Kennedy said he thought it a menacing situation that (1) China's population, biggest in the world, is exploring, (2) it is almost surrounded by smaller and weaker nations, (3) it wants war to achieve world communism, and

(4) in 10 years or so it may be a nuclear power.

Kennedy considers all these factors together a "potentially more dangerous situation than any we faced since the end of the war." So he doesn't know what to expect, now or later, but particularly later when China has nuclear weapons.

The original Chinese Communists, who began their lifelong campaign for the domination of China in the 1920s, are all old or elderly men now. They're dying out.

These were the fanatic revolutionaries who sacrificed everything for a dream. They've split with Khrushchev for even talking about getting along with the West.

Will their successors, now that the revolution has been accomplished and China taken, feel like fanatics and more like managers and therefore, like Khrushchev, be more inclined to preserve their gains than risk them in a war?

Such a new generation of leaders might mean a less belligerent China. But nobody, including Kennedy, is betting on it. He didn't even mention it.

Starch Re-used Zippers

By Polly Cramer
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — I have discovered that if you are reusing a zipper saved from a worn-out garment, it will sew in like a new one after a dip in hot starch. Iron while still damp, using a cloth over it. — L. M.

GIRLS — If you have nothing else to starch, I am sure you would not want to make hot starch for one little zipper. I found that spray starch works just fine. Iron dry in the same manner as suggested by L.M. and the zipper tapes will have as much body as when new. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — When we bought our chest-type freezer, it was put in the basement near my automatic washer and dryer.

At the time, I had no idea the freezer was going to be such a laundry aid. The big porcelain top is ideal for starching clothes, dampening the ironing, folding things that come out of the dryer, sorting the ironed clothes and so on. The unfinished dampened things can be stored inside. This accidental placement of the freezer has saved me countless steps up and down the basement stairs. I heartily recommend that anyone with a chest freezer move it to the laundry area. — MRS. M. F. F.

DEAR POLLY — When giving a small child's birthday party at home, place a 9 by 12 plastic drop cloth on the floor or rug under the party table and chairs. This will save your rug or floor when the children accidentally spill food or drink or have any of the usual children's accidents. When the party is over, roll up the drop cloth and throw it away if you like. They can be purchased at most paint or hardware stores for a small sum and are certainly worth the price as a rug protector and time saver. — MRS. E. H.

DEAR POLLY — I always drop a square of nylon netting in my mop water when scrubbing the floor. I can remove shoe marks and scuffs easily by rubbing with the netting. It does not scratch the floor. — MRS. V. K.

DEAR POLLY — So many things we buy today come in plastic bags. I find that after ironing my pillow slips they can easily be kept in pairs by inserting them in some of these bags. At the same time they are saved from discoloring in my linen closet. This also holds true with sheets. — E. F. R.

GIRLS — This might be too much of a good thing for those with big families, where the bed linens scarcely have time to cool on the shelves. It would certainly be wonderful for company-best linens. — POLLY

The Doctor Says

Colitis Is Traced To Person's Emotional Acts

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Are you one of the growing number of persons who has an irritable bowel? Some doctors call it mucous colitis or spastic colitis. But no matter what they call it, it can make you pretty uncomfortable.

Many a so-called stomach-ache or bout of gripping pains is due to an irritable bowel. These pains shift around in the abdomen and tend to come in intermittent spasms. Some of these spasms may make you double-up with pain. Within a few minutes or a few hours you may pass some gas or a thin formed or watery stool and this always gives temporary relief.

This disease is as common as the emotional tension that is its underlying cause. Just about everybody has had it at one time or another. In its chronic persistent form the lower bowel becomes so resentful that it pours out a large amount of mucus.

The food that is eaten is passed through the digestive tract so fast that digestion is not complete and the victim loses weight. A vicious cycle is set up in that the pain, bloating, and abdominal distress have a bad effect on one's disposition. Emotional tension mounts, tempers flare up and you are off on another round of spasms.

Treatment must aim at breaking this cycle by soothing the nerves and soothing the colon. First of all it is important for the victim to know that there is no connection between this disease and ulcerative colitis or cancer. It may, however, be necessary to make sure that there isn't a chronic dysentery due to ameba that will keep the trouble going until all the amebas are cleaned out.

Every effort must then be made to resolve any stressful situations that may be aggravating the trouble. This is often the hardest part of the treatment.

Meanwhile, you cannot neglect the bowel itself. All laxatives must be avoided and for a while at least laxative foods such as vegetables, fruits, nuts, pickles, jams, and spices must be omitted from the diet. Skimmed milk, cheese, well-cooked meat, eggs, crackers, and bread or toast should constitute the main elements of the diet. Weak tea should be substituted for coffee.

Some drugs such as barbiturates may help to soothe both the nerves and the bowel. They should be taken for a short period only and not without strict medical supervision because they are habit-forming.

If, as a result of treatment, you find that you have become constipated you should use an enema of eight ounces of plain warm water held for at least five minutes before passing. In addition you should cautiously add a small portion of cooked green vegetable or cooked fruit to your daily diet.

The amount can be gradually increased as you continue to improve but at the first sign of a recurrence of spasms go back to a bland diet.

Some people have had to follow a rigid diet for years to keep the spasms under control because of a difficult situation at home or at work that cannot be readily resolved. That's why, if you can't learn to control your emotions as an adult, it is doubly important that you seek help in teaching your children to control theirs. After all, you wouldn't want them to go through life with colitis, too.

ing what extra ammunition they had to guerrillas.

Two months ago, he started disarming military detachments he felt had proved "unreliable."

In recent weeks, Fidel has been using Russian troops for this purpose. He's made another discovery: militiamen can't be depended upon to disarm other militiamen.

U.S. officials believe that Castro eventually will be forced to disband the militia entirely and build up his regular army.

According to Cuban exiles, the unreliability of the militia has caused Fidel to use Russian troops in fighting the guerrillas. If these exile reports are true, Cuba already has become "another Hungary," something the Kennedy administration vowed it would never permit. U.S. intelligence officials haven't been able to confirm the reports. However, they do say this:

There have been clashes, even pitched battles, between the Russians and the guerrillas. Whether the Russians attacked the guerrillas, as the exiles insist, or whether the guerrillas attacked the Russians, they don't know. All they do know is that a wing of the naval hospital in East Havana is filled with Russians wounded in combat.

As yet, the resistance to Castro is almost completely unorganized. Only a handful of guerrilla bands have as many as a dozen men. The saboteurs work in groups of three or four. Often the most effective sabotage is done by a single workman, acting completely on his own, without telling even his wife. (Says a U.S. intelligence official: "They commit sabotage in the French sense of the word; they drop a monkey wrench in the machine.")

Almost without exception, the mass demonstrations have been spontaneous.

One reason is the failure, so far, of a leader to arise, a man with the charisma of Fidel, who can unite the resistance behind him. Another is the effectiveness of Fidel's G-2; it's safer to keep the groups small.

A third reason is the refusal of the United States Government to give the resistance more than dubs and dabs of support. Says a U.S. intelligence official: "If our government sent arms, ammo and explosives into Cuba, the whole island would blow up. What holds the resistance movement down right now is a lack of weapons."

Next: The Guerrillas and How They Operate.

Castro's Cuba Today

By HAROLD LAVINE
(First of a Series)

WASHINGTON — One night, a factory suddenly bursts into flames; the next, a dozen guerrillas explode into a Soviet military establishment, firing rifles and tommyguns. They kill two of the Russians, then melt away. By morning they are simple guajiro, growing tobacco.

Housewives form a conga line and snake through a town, shouting denunciations of the government in conga rhythm. Workers invent strange ailments to excuse themselves from work. Construction foremen deliberately misplace blueprints and, just as deliberately, forget where they misplaced them. Mechanics insist they can't find what in Heaven's name is wrong with machinery they sabotaged themselves.

Typists in government offices become all thumbs. Guajiros refuse to cut sugar cane. Militiamen refuse to fire on guerrillas or else disappear into the hills to become guerrillas themselves.

A Communist bureaucrat is found in a doorway, crumpled in death. He was on his way home and someone leaped from the doorway to strangle him.

This is the great untold story of Cuba today. It comes from Cuban exiles, from U.S. intelligence officials, and from what the intelligence officials call "third sources—governments that still maintain embassies in Havana." They differ on details, but on the basic fact they're in complete accord.

After more than four years, despite his G-2, despite his militia, despite his regular army, despite the presence of Russian troops, Fidel Castro has not been able to crush the resistance to his dictatorship. The resistance suffered the worst blow to its morale since the fiasco in the Bay of Pigs when the Kennedy administration cracked down on hit-and-run raids from Florida. Many Cubans who had been working in the underground until then abandoned the struggle in despair. Nevertheless, tens of thousands remain at war with the dictator. And they have the support of angry millions.

Some are fighting with guns and machetes, dynamite and phosphorus; others, with sabotage and slowdowns; still others, simply by failing to show up for work in the morning. Publicly, Fidel dismisses them as "worms." Actually, they are driving him crazy.

To his dismay, Fidel no longer can fully trust his militia to fight back. Early this year, he started rationing ammunition to his militia because he'd discovered that many of the militiamen were giving new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Pointers.

Matter of Fact

Reuters, the international news agency, was begun in 1849 by a German baron, Paul Julius de Reuters. To bridge a gap at the German-French border in the newly developed telegraph line, Reuters organized a pigeon-post exchange of news. He later established his news service in London, and relayed news of the American Civil War to Europe. In 1865, Reuters was granted a cable concession between France and the United States.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: How dare you call my child a vegetable just because he refuses to go to camp? Did it ever occur to you that some children love their home and hate to leave it? And what's wrong with keeping kids home as long as possible? They grow up and leave too soon as it is.

My Vincent is a bright, sensitive, well-adjusted boy. We sent him to camp three years ago when he was 10. After two days he telephoned and asked me to come get him. Of course I brought him home at once since I saw no point in forcing camp on a child whose personality rebelled against discipline. Vincent never was one to follow orders like sheep.

I can tell by your writing, Ann Landers, that you have the mentality of a WAC sergeant. You like to boss people, order them around and impose your will on everybody I'm raising my Vincent to be an independent thinker and a free soul in a free society. So phooey on you and your military approach to child rearing.—MRS. B. B.

Dear Mrs. B.B.: No free society would be free for long without discipline. I hope your Vincent understands that the freedom to swing his arms ends where the other fellow's nose begins.

The youngster who calls home after two days and blubbers,

"Ma, come and get me" is the very one who should stay there. He needs to learn how to live with other children, and to take orders. He should understand, too, that taking orders is essential training for living in a world where nobody can do whatever he pleases, when and if he darned well feels like it.

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't give me the devil for being nosy, just tell me what to do now that I have snooped into my husband's wallet and found $350 in cash.

He didn't buy me an anniversary present last week, which I thought was very tacky of him since he bought his mother a set of dishes for her birthday. I got curious about how much money he carried when I saw him shell out $55 in cash for those dishes—so I looked.

Should I tell him what I know and take chances on him blowing his cork because I snooped? Please guide me.—SUGAR PUSS.

Dear Sugar: Tell him and face the music. It will be worth a few sour notes if you can get the man to bank his money instead of carrying it around in his wallet—like a fool.

Money in the bank is protected against theft, loss and fire. It also accumulates interest.

Dear Ann Landers: This girl whom I will call Grace has no friends of her own so she tries to take over mine.

Grace and I work in the same office. Every day I have lunch with one or two girls who work in this building. On Monday I plan my week's lunches and they are set.

About four days a week Grace spots me in the restaurant with my friends, comes right over and says "Mind if I join you?" Without waiting for an answer she moves right in.

She monopolizes the conversation and gives me indigestion. Is there a solution, short of being brutally frank and saying, "No, you can't join us—this is a private party"?—BICARB BETTY.

Dear Bicarb: Probably not. In sensitive clods rarely respond to hints. I can't improve on your answer, Betty. Go ahead and use it.

Undeclared Jeff City Birds Down Chillicothe Chiefs 7-1

The Jefferson City Red Birds continued undefeated in the state semi-pro baseball tourney at Liberty Park, dealing the Chillicothe Chiefs a 7-1 defeat in the second game Thursday night.

A seven run seventh inning rally by the Red Birds snuffed out Chillicothe hopes for a win. Chillicothe had a 1-0 shutout until the seventh. With the loss, the Chiefs move to the losers' bracket, to play the Stockton Walnuts at 9 p.m. Monday.

The winning pitcher for Jefferson City was John Heck, who went the distance for the Birds. Taking the loss for the Chiefs was Charles Forrester who was replaced by Butch Clark during the Jeff City seventh inning rout after the Red Birds had taken the lead.

Friday night, Concordia plays Whiteman AFB at 7 p.m. and the undefeated Sedalia Merchants and Pleasant Hill squad clash at 9 p.m.

There will be no games Saturday because of the Connie Mack Tourney, but there are two games slated Sunday night. At 7 p.m. Sunday St. Joseph meets Springfield Poindexter, with the Art Gaines Baseball School team and Jefferson City to meet at 9 p.m.

The play-by-play:

After neither team was able to tally in the first two innings, Chillicothe put over one in the third. After Buel Hoyt singled, Chet Cousin sacrificed, moving the runner to third. After a strikeout, Al Hicks hit a long fly to the fence in left, just in front of the 350 foot mark, scoring the run from third. Larry Figg then hit the ball sharply to the third baseman, who threw him out at first. Jefferson City loaded the bases with two out in the bottom of the third, but a short tap to the pitcher and the force out at the plate closed the inning without any damage being done to the Chillicothe score.

For the next three innings, both pitchers sent the order down pretty much in order, without any rallies.

Chillicothe tried to add to their slim lead in the seventh when Hightower led off with a double to the fence and Forrester walked. A pop fly and two force outs ended the inning without a tally, leaving the score 1-0 in favor of Chillicothe.

Jefferson City romped into the game with seven runs on six hits in the bottom of the sixth. Roger Fister led off with a little dribbler down the third base line, which he beat out for a hit. Ray Scott then slammed a base hit to right, and Rich Alberts sacrificed, moving the runners to second and third. The Red Birds' pitcher, John Heck, knocked a long single, scoring two runs and going to second on the throw to the plate. The score, 2-1 in favor of Jefferson City.

With only one out, the Chillicothe hurler walked leadoff man Don Vashi and a base hit to center by Gary Bailey scored another run. The Chiefs sent left fielder Butch Clark in to take over the mound duties, and he walked Ray Uriarte, loading the bases. Dave Smith tapped a base hit to right, forcing in a run and leaving the bases loaded. With Jim Taylor in the batter's box, a pitch got away from catcher Larry Figg and a run scored from third Taylor slugged a base hit, driving in two runs, but Smith was thrown out trying to take third. Then Fister, who had started Chillicothe staged rallies in both the eighth and ninth innings, but could not score.

In the eighth, pitcher Butch Clark got a standup double down the third base line with two out. The rally ended quickly, however, when Lloyd Swift was thrown out at first.

The ninth inning saw Hightower lead off getting to first when he was hit by a pitch. Then Lyle Burkey beat out a perfect bunt-down the first base line, moving Hightower to second. A double play and a long fly to center which was caught closed the game, leaving the score 7-1 in favor of Jefferson City.

Long Wait On Altman By Cards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Every time George Altman hits a home run, the St. Louis Cardinals sit up and hope this is it. They've been waiting all season for the slugger to break out of his long-ball slump.

The Cardinals' patience may be starting to pay off. He hit his third home run in 10 days Thursday to help St. Louis to a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in St. Louis.

The triumph moved the Cardinals into a second place tie with San Francisco, 4 1/2 games behind Los Angeles.

Kansas City was idle.

Curt Simmons went 2-1-3 in his 10th victory against 5 defeats. He needed ninth-inning help from Ron Taylor and Bobby Shantz, who each retired a batter.

Sacrifice flies by Bill White and Tim McCarver gave the Cardinals two of their runs.

Altman's homer to the right field pavilion roof with none on broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth. It was only his seventh of the season, a far cry from the 27 he hit in 1961 and the 22 last season with the Cubs.

Altman has been platooned and benched part of the time, "but it hasn't been bad because the club has been winning and I've been giving my best when I'm playing."

But now he feels he's coming around.

"It's been a long time since I've felt this loose at the plate," said the free-swinging lefthanded outfielder.

"I think I had a mental block with my vision," Altman said. "I came to spring training with blurred vision after studying all winter for the brokerage business."

He tried wearing glasses after the season began, but they did not help. He gave them up a few weeks ago and "I've been hitting the ball better since I got them off my mind."

"He's got his confidence now," Manager Johnny Keane said. "We'll keep playing him. We know he'll hit. He's too good a hitter not to."

The Cardinals open a weekend series with Philadelphia tonight. Ray Sadecki (6-7) of the Cardinals will face Dennis Bennett (3-0) in the first game.

Minnesota is at Kansas City tonight where Orlando Pena (8-13) of the A's takes on Camilo Pascual (11-6).

Springfield Takes 9-0 Forfeit Win in Tourney

Springfield Poindexter took a 9-0 forfeit win in the first scheduled game Thursday night in the state semi-pro baseball tourney at Liberty Park when Kirkville failed to appear.

With the win, Springfield advances in their bracket and will play St. Joseph at 7 p.m. Sunday. The forfeit by Kirkville eliminated them from the tourney. They lost their first tourney game to Jefferson last Thursday.

Art Gaines & Stockton 2

The Stockton Walnuts who were favored to win, Wednesday night, came out on the short end of the score with Art Gaines Baseball School team from Hunneywell, Mo. The Gaines aggregation took the game 8 to 2, to send Stockton back to the losers bracket.

Art Gaines by the victory advanced in the winners bracket and will meet the winner of the Jefferson City-Chillicothe game on Sunday.

Stockton was picked as the favorite, but the boys on the Walnuts team became jittery in the bottom of the opening inning and two straight errors and a walk proved costly. Three tallies were made. Two more errors helped to add another score in the third. Another error was an assist in the lone score in the fifth. The sixth inning resulted in the three earned runs, enough which would have won anyway.

Art Gaines took off with the lead in the bottom of the first inning with 3 runs. Phil Waddell safe on the shortstop error. Sammons safe on the third baseman's error. Waddell to second. Max Mathews on a sacrifice advanced Waddell and Sammons. Williams walked. Jake Tarr out third to first and Waddell scored. Mike White singled to left field scoring Sammons and on the error of Bernie Brown in the left field.

Williams scored. Pickerwell singled, the ball dropping just behind second base. White held up at second. Brown struckout. Three runs, two hits, three errors.

In the bottom of the third Art Gaines scored again. Mathews struckout. Williams flied to short. Tarr singled to left. White safe on a third baseman error. Tarr to second. On Hacker's error, Pickerwell was safe and White scored. Wetzell struck out. One run, one hit, two errors.

The Walnuts came to life in the top of the fourth and staged a two run rally. Roland Lusk singled sharply. Bennie Brown hit a two base hit down the right field line. Roy Cunningham walked. Powers singled scoring Lusk and Brown. Woolridge out on a sacrifice to Alex Williams. Griffin struckout. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Art Gaines came back in the bottom of the fifth to score one run. Williams doubled to center field. Tarr flied out to third. White singled to center scoring Williams and went to second on an error of the centerfielder. Pickerell and John Wetzell struckout. Joe Rayburn went in for Chism after one out. One run, two hits and one error.

They came back in the sixth to score three runs. Leonard Langwell led with a strikeout. Waddell doubled to center. Sammons singled to center and went to second on the throw. Mathews singled to right scoring Waddell and went to second on the throw in. Williams doubled to right field scoring Sammons and Mathews and was caught off second Griffin to Hacker. Tarr singled to left field. White forced Tarr at second. Three runs, five hits, no errors.

'Grand Hotel' May Come To Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After all these years, MGM is reported to be thinking about dusting off one of its old hit movies, "Grand Hotel" and adapting it for a television series. High time: The idea and variations on it is basic television and so widely used they are almost over-worked.

"Grand Hotel," based on Vicki Baum's novel, was a series of short stories, tied together by the fact that all characters were in some way connected with the hotel. Some two dozen television series today are really short stories, tied together by a few continuing characters or locations.

The medical shows—"Dr. Kildare," "Ben Casey" and "The Nurses"—use a hospital instead of a hotel, but the plot effect is the same. "Wagon Train" is a mobile hotel—each week a different story about somebody connected with the overland journey. "Route 66" switches with the two continuing characters driving the highways to situations and characters.

One reason for the eternal popularity of lawyers, policemen and private eyes is that a wide variety of stories about clients and cases can emerge logically from the occupation of the central characters.

ABC is going to make certain there can be no hanky-panky in its forthcoming big-money quiz show, "100 Grand," the first since the dark days of the broadcasting scandal five years back.

The show pits an amateur expert on some subject against a professional authority. Show packagers are looking for the amateur contestants, while local Chambers of Commerce have been enlisted to find the professionals on the usual quiz show subjects of baseball, opera, war, movies, Lincoln and such.

The prime rig-proofing device is the rule that has the amateur and professional contestants dreaming up questions immediately before show time which each will immediately fire at his opponent. To win the top prize, $100,000, the amateur must defeat five professional authorities.

Chambers of Commerce are interested because a professional who defeats an amateur will win

TV In Sight!

SOMETHING NEW HAS BEEN ADDED

Strawberry blonde Meredith MacRae, 18-year-old daughter of Gordon and Sheila, joins the all-male cast of ABC-TV's "My Three Sons." She will play Sally, fiancée of Fred MacMurray's oldest son, Mike, played by Tim Considine.

$10,000, to go to his community for some civic improvement.

NBC has an interest in the next best thing to Ian Fleming's popular James Bond character. It's another Fleming character, "Mr. Soli," designed to be the hero of an hour-long derring-do series a year hence.

Perry Como will do seven variety specials next season, but will skip hosting chores on the suspense tales. Bob Hope will host a weekly anthology series, play roles in two of them and lace the series with six variety hours in which he will star.

MODERNITY IN AN ANCIENT LAND—Sitting on an ornate rug that may well be a descendant of the famous flying carpet, four generations of the family of Ibrahim ibn Suleman (second from right) gather around a modern miracle in their home at Rahimah, Saudi Arabia. They are watching a television program being broadcast over a station operated by the Arabian American Oil Co. for its 11,000 Saudi Arab employees. The station, one of two Arabic-language television stations in the Middle East, uses a retired oil derrick to support the transmitting antenna.

Firm Commissioned by Council

Cost Proposal Being Drawn To Update Municipal Plans

Mayor L. L. Studer and the City Council Wednesday night commissioned the Hare & Hare Company, Kansas City, to prepare a written proposal and a cost figure on updating Sedalia's municipal plan.

The mayor and council met in the mayor's office in a two-hour session with Dick Kellenberg, representative of the municipal planning firm. Kellenberg told the city officials his firm would prepare a written proposal and submit it in the next few weeks for council approval.

Much as expected, the city fathers propose that special emphasis in the planning survey be placed on zoning and off-street parking lots.

The city officials learned the scope of the planning study will have to be considerably broader than they had hoped if federal aid funds are to be received.

Under a federal planning assistance program administered by the Missouri Division of Industrial Development, aid funds will be paid for two-thirds the cost of such studies, Kellenberg said, if the scope of the survey is up to federal specifications.

The council had hoped Sedalia's current municipal plan, completed in 1954, could be updated in the necessary aspects thus reducing the cost of the new survey. Kellenberg said he felt the city would be far ahead to choose the federal assistance route and he indicated with Sedalia paying only one-third, the cost would not be prohibitive.

Kellenberg said a project proposal must be submitted for approval of federal funds before the study could begin. The approval delay requires about 90 days, he said. Under the plan the city would actually have a contract with the state Division of Industrial Development to provide one-third of the cost.

To Talk Next Year

State 'Regrets' On Hassle at Fair

Don Thomason, state commissioner of agriculture, has advised Mayor L. L. Studer that he will be consulted personally before finalizing fire protection plans for the 1964 Missouri State Fair here.

"I personally regret the situation which has arisen around arrangements for fire protection during the State Fair," Thomason said in a brief letter to Mayor Studer which was received Wednesday.

"Please be assured the matter was in no way intended to be embarrassing to Sedalia or to its fine Fire Department," Thomason said. "And further you will be consulted personally before finalizing plans for the 1964 fair."

Studer said today he had replied to Thomason's letter and told him he was grateful for his assurance.

Thomason told the mayor that he was sure W. H. Ritzenthaler, fair secretary, had explained the situation which forced the fair's decision. Thomason is Ritzenthaler's immediate superior.

The Missouri Association of Volunteer Firefighters will provide personnel to man equipment provided by the Mack Truck Company for fire protection at this year's fair. The city fire department has provided protection on the fairgrounds during the fair and throughout the year since the fair's inception.

Firemen, however, learned at a firefighting school in Columbia recently that they had been relieved of fire protection duties for the 1963 fair.

The city fire department, however, will be ready to offer the volunteer group assistance this year, despite the wrangle.

Regular Council Meet Could be Recessed

The Sedalia City Council is scheduled for its regular meeting Monday night, but may recess until later in the week due to the absence of Mayor L. L. Studer who will be in St. Louis; the possible absence of President Protem E. B. Smith who was called to Nebraska because of the serious illness of his mother; the possible absence of Councilman Robert Bader, who is next senior member of the Council, who is out of the city on business.

With the possible absence of two council members, and Mayor Studer, the remaining six would select one of their number to preside, leaving five councilmen to handle the city business with one presiding.

Mayor Studer will be with Mrs. Studer in St. Louis who is to undergo a major operation at the Missouri Pacific hospital next Monday.

The council asked that accelerated effort be placed on the off-street parking lot portion of the study. The mayor and council are being pressed by a group of

City Scales Closed For Needed Check

The city scales have been temporarily closed for "official" weighing. The order to cease to weigh was made by the State Department of Agriculture after an inspection was made of the scales located just north of Fire Station No. 2 on South Kentucky.

Dewey Houchens, weighmaster, reported the matter is nothing serious and the scales will be back in order within a few days. Houchens explained the scales had not been tested since 1960 and he had requested a check be made of the scales for accuracy.

The state checked the scales Thursday, and found they were off to a degree and were weighing light. He explained with the coming of turkey season and hundreds of trucks use the city scales he felt they should be checked now, and so made the request.

A scale man has been contacted and is expected to check the scales and make necessary adjustments to bring them up to standard.

This would be a solution, in

Burglary Discovered At Service Station

A burglary at the Hinken Brothers Service Station, Broadway and State Fair, was discovered at 5:55 a.m. Thursday by police. Sgt. Jewell Riley, who made the initial investigation, reported entrance was gained by prying open a door.

A candy vending machine, a cigarette machine, both inside the station, and a soda pop machine outside the station were pried open. Police said entrance was not gained to the candy machine, but the money boxes from both the cigarette and soda pop machines are missing.

An undetermined amount of small change was taken.

JFK Says Underground Atomic Testing by U. S. Will Continue

Predicts Ratification Of New Test Ban Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said Thursday that "yes, we will" continue nuclear weapons testing underground. At the same time he predicted ratification of a new treaty banning tests in space, in the atmosphere and under water.

In the realm of the gravest domestic crisis of the day, Kennedy said he assumes that his handling of the civil rights issue has cost him political support and prestige. But he said he expects his administration to "continue to follow the same course it has followed in the past."

The President talked about nuclear tests and civil rights at a news conference centering largely around those two topics.

Kennedy started off with an appeal to parents and others to urge children to return to school in September and stay in school in order to combat the drop-out problem.

Then the session with reporters took off into nuclear testing and civil rights and a spattering of other matters.

The first question was whether the President was concerned about ratification of the American-British-Soviet treaty banning all test but underground ones, since some Republicans and Democrats in the Senate have taken a "wait-and-see" attitude.

Kennedy said there is nothing wrong with waiting or seeing, and:

"My judgment is when the testimony is all in that this treaty will be ratified. I think it would be a great mistake not to. . . . I think it provides protection for United States and gives us some hope. Maybe that hope won't be realized, but some hope of moving towards a more peaceful world."

The chief executive had a positive, definite answer to a follow-up question whether he has decided to continue underground tests, as the treaty permits. "Yes," he said. "Yes, we will." But he was far less clear-cut a few minutes later on whether this country is considering giving France some of its nuclear weapons secrets in order that that nation might stop testing.

Chicago Man Killed In Car-Truck Mishap

BOONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—A Chicago man was killed and three of his relatives were injured Thursday in a car that hit the rear of a truck on Interstate 70 near Boonville.

The dead man was Nick J. Bibbino, 25. Admitted to a Boonville hospital were his wife, Jeannette, 23; their son, Richard, 8 months; and Bibbino's brother, Robert, 17.

Ward Has Pneumonia; Near Death

Convicted Man In Iron Lung; Condition Worse

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Stephen Ward lay near death Thursday night with bronchial pneumonia. A machine pumped breath into his drugged body.

Doctors at St. Stephen's Hospital reported the 50-year-old playboy osteopath took a turn for the worse after a morning operation to introduce a tube into his windpipe to help him breathe.

The apparatus is an iron lung type of machine.

Ward has not recovered consciousness since swallowing a drug overdose Wednesday morning before he was due to attend the last day of his Old Bailey trial.

The sensational eight-day case stemmed from Christine Keeler's ill-starred love affair with ex-War Minister John Profumo, whose public disgrace almost toppled Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government.

With Ward absent, the jury found him guilty on two counts of living off the immoral earnings of Christine, 21, and her friend, Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies, 18.

The judge postponed sentencing until Ward could be brought before the court. At the time it was stated that might be about next Tuesday but hospital authorities said this was unlikely.

One of Ward's attorneys stood by in the hospital, waiting for his revival and the right moment to break the news of the jury verdict.

One medical source said pneumonia was a common complication in barbiturate poisoning. Normally patients recover from their coma more quickly than Ward.

After a Near Riot

Tighten Reins on Negro Demonstrations in N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders tightened the reins on Negro job demonstrators Thursday, in the aftermath of Wednesday's near riot at a Brooklyn hospital construction site. There more than 40 arrests but no mass violence.

Heavy rain squalls swept the city off and on during the day, quelling the ardor of some of the pickets. They are demanding a halt to all publicly financed construction unless guaranteed a quota of 25 per cent Negro and Puerto Rican workmen on all building jobs. A Negro scuffled with police at the Downstate Medical Center site in Brooklyn, after an officer confiscated a cache of eggs apparently intended as missiles. Police also climbed girders of the unfinished hospital to bring down Negro pickets who scaled them. In a Manhattan demonstration, a police lieutenant grabbed a picket from in front of a moving truck, both men narrowly escaping injury or death. Pickets have consistently sought to halt construction trucks.

There were 29 arrests in Brooklyn, where pickets got out of hand Wednesday, punched and kicked police and raised a cry of "police brutality." Two pickets and two police officers suffered minor injuries.

Three children were carried away from the Downstate site Thursday, although not arrested. The Rev. William A. Jones, a Negro leader of the Brooklyn demonstration announced the establishment of a picketing school for Negro children. He said:

"Parents will take the youngsters to the center and picket leaders will teach them the methods of marching on the picket line."

Police have removed more than 60 children from the Downstate picket line since the demonstrations began July 10.

About 185 pickets were on hand in Brooklyn for Thursday's demonstration and one of their leaders, the Rev. Milton Galamison, told newsmen:

"We are experimenting with a delaying tactic where the pickets will sit and delay the trucks, then walk off. It's a matter of conscience of the individual whether he chooses to be arrested."

Firemen Battle Blaze Five Hours

A major fire that could have destroyed several buildings broke out in Beaman Wednesday night and Pettis County firemen spent some five hours at the scene before the blaze was extinguished.

Two houses were severely damaged, a car and two garages were destroyed and a cellar house was slightly damaged. Firemen had a considerable amount of trouble in keeping the blaze from spreading to other homes in the small town.

Firemen received the call at 6:30 p.m., and the caller said a garage was on fire. A second call, received by radio via the county jail, revealed there were several houses on fire.

On arrival at the scene, the firemen, Ernest Carver, assistant fire chief, and George (Chick) Brown, found the Ellis Scott home and the Turner Williams home ablaze. Garages for both houses were also burning as was a small house built over a cellar.

The firemen ran a booster line to the Scott home and one to the Williams home, which is

Negotiations For Hotel Sale Are Conducted Here

Negotiations for the sale of the Bothwell Hotel to a local group are reportedly under way, but so far the deal is only in the negotiating stage.

It was reported Thursday that the sale had been made, and Abe Silverman and Harry Naugel were named as two of the people involved. Silverman confirmed later in the day that negotiations are under way, but the sale has not yet been made.

The Boss Hotel chain purchased the hotel from the Community Hotel Association, a local group, for $150,000 about two years ago. Silverman did not name a possible purchase figure, but he did indicate the actual deal would not be closed for about one month.

owned by Edward Carry, Smithton. Backs of both homes were burning freely at the time.

Neighbors turned out to help, as did Judge E. L. Birdsong of the Pettis County Court. The Smithton fire department arrived shortly after the Pettis County unit arrived, and gave assistance.

The blazes were stubborn, Carver said, because the roof of the Scott home consisted of tin roofing over shingles, and the roof of the Williams home was a type of tar paper over shingles. After the main blaze was brought under control, the shingles continued to smolder, and a blaze broke out in several places before the fire was entirely out.

A 1962 Ford was in the Williams garage, and the car was completely destroyed.

Damage to the homes was estimated at $2,500 each. Both garages were declared a total loss. Damage to the cellar, in back of the Scott home, was slight.

Carver said one of the neighbors was sitting in his home when he heard an explosion looked next door and saw the fire, then called the firemen. The occupants of the two houses were not at home.

McDonald Takes Navy Command

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. David L. McDonald took command of the Navy with the ceremonial 19-gun salutes, bands, flag exchanges, speeches and reading of orders Thursday.

The change of command saw McDonald's friend, Adm. George W. Anderson, conclude a 40-year naval career and head for a diplomatic assignment as ambassador to Portugal.

The new chief and the retiring one spoke briefly after Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth had praised both.

All three steered clear of any mention of the decision that brought about the ceremonial change of command.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara decided against recommending to President Kennedy appointment of Anderson, 56, to a second term.

There was speculation that McNamara made his decision because he was displeased with Anderson's criticism of the Pentagon decision in award of a contract for the TFX warplane. The admiral testified before Senate probes.

But the official explanation given was that most chiefs have served only one term.

Anderson thanked all of the men who had served with him and under him in his 40 years.

The Navy uniform, said Anderson, appeals to boys everywhere, "boys from Georgia and from New York." This alluded to McDonald's Maysville, Ga., origin, and his own birthplace in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Like Anderson, McDonald is a naval aviator and former skipper of several carriers.

4-H's Display Handi-Work

Pettis County 4-H'ers held their annual open house from 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday in the Smith-Cotton cafeteria, with a good crowd on hand to see the many accomplishments of these young people during the past year.

Displayed was a wide assortment of articles made by 4-H youth in their many projects during the year. Guests also enjoyed refreshments.

Perhaps the outstanding thing was a new project this year—knitting. Sweaters of many types and colors, each one beautiful, were displayed. The knitting, like the sewing, started at the beginning, with the younger girls who knitted simple little scarves and slippers. But there were more and more things from the knitting project by older girls that were as lovely and maybe more so, than anything to be found in stores. There were stoles, caps, slippers of many styles, and many other items.

The sewing project, too, seemed to be even better than usual, with good looking winter coats of attractive woolen materials. There were woolen suits, too, as well as suits of other materials, and dresses for girls of all sizes in both one and two piece of many colors, materials and styles.

But it wasn't just a girls' show by any means, for the boys had just as many interesting things on display as the girls — the bookcase bed with its sliding door on either side, and the bedside table to match in natural finish, was outstanding.

It was in the wood project, and in this area every year is something that causes some of the visitors to look and wonder what they are. They were salt boxes, and to those who are not familiar with what is used on a farm, it is the box into which the big blocks of salt are put for the cows to lick.

"Cows need salt," said Owen Fox, youth agent at the Pettis County University Center, who, with Miss Opal O'Brian, extension home economist got the Achievement Days exhibits and demonstrations organized.

Certainly the animals and birds were not forgotten, for there was a large dog house for Rover, a red with green shingle roof, bird houses and bird feeders, and a puppy print pillow which probably will go in a chair for the pet dog.

Truth Must Be Preserved

Who is right and what is right?

This is an enigmatic question if ever one was asked.

You can apply it to the proposal to establish a parking lot at Second street and Ohio avenue. This has stirred up considerable discussion pro and con—mostly con—from what we have heard in personal contacts; or arguments about more recreational facilities, sewage disposal plant improvements, civil defense or what have you.

Who is right and what is right?

On vacation, stopping at Holiday Inn in Effingham where we obtained a reservation through teletype service from Sedalia's own new Holiday Inn—thanks a lot—we picked up a metropolitan newspaper and read about six persons shot in Cambridge, Maryland; the two-step plan for settling the rail dispute; the Ecuador military junta that ousted President Aronsemena because, among other reasons, he got too drunk.

Who is right and what is right?

Human rivalry seems to grow more intense at all levels of life; and in the process truth seems to be trampled on or ignored. In the dentist's chair before we took off from Sedalia the conversation theme was about the government's insistent policy that it is always right whether we are going down the welfare road or foreign aid to financial perdition. Government becomes increasingly evasive, cloaking its errors by falsification.

But the quest for truth extends into our private affairs, too. There are many causes for our mounting toll of broken homes; not the least of which is the frequent failure of husband and wife to face the truth about each other and about themselves as individuals, while seeking some sort of elusory security in avoidance of the truth.

Shutting out the truth, or refusing to look for it, cannot ever contribute to anyone's security. Most successful marriages, for one thing, develop when two people are able to face their own personal shortcomings and each other's, declining to be defeated by the reality of human frailty. Instead, they strive to make a workable partnership out of the materials at hand, recognizing the fallacy of presumptuous rightness and egotistical invincibility.

When truth lies within our grasp, whether as individuals or as government, we should seize it; if it can be dug up we should unearth it.

If we try this method the world will be a better place for all of us whatever our complexion, whatever our faith, whatever our politics, whatever our marital difficulties.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rail Strike Would Be Catastrophic

(Editor's Note—The Washington Merry-Go-Round today is written by Drew Pearson's associate, Jack Anderson.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's grim warning that a 30-day railroad strike would idle 6,000,000 nonrailroad workers and cause an economic decline four times greater than the worst postwar recession was based upon the sober conclusions of the labor, agriculture, and commerce departments.

They reported confidentially to the White House that a mere week-long strike would be no calamity, although it would strand 500,000 commuters who ride the trains to work in New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia, would also close down some industrial plants dependent upon rail shipments.

Several automobile plants, for example, operate with less than a week's supply of materials on hand.

A few food shortages would also turn up in New York City during the first week of a strike.

But if the railroad workers should halt the trains for more than 30 days, the experts warned, the results would be disastrous.

Farmers would be unable to ship their August harvest to market; fruits, vegetables and other food would begin to disappear from the grocery stands; prices would start to skyrocket; workers would be laid off in the steel, coal, lumber, paper, stone, glass, and other industries.

Drinking water in many places could not be purified and would be unsafe to drink. The sewage disposal plants in the upper Ohio Valley, for example, depend upon the railroads for their chlorine. Not enough truck tankers are available to deliver the chlorine needed to keep the water safe downstream.

The economic experts predicted that the nation's gross output would drop an alarming 75 billion dollars if the trains stop running for 30 days.

They also warned that foreign suppliers would take over part of the American market, both here and abroad.

Faced with these dire prospects, President Kennedy told subordinates that a prolonged railroad strike was "unacceptable" and must be headed off for the sake of the national welfare.

Berlin Cools Off

While world attention has been riveted on Moscow, Mayor Willy Brandt of once-embattled Berlin has conceded privately that the Berlin crisis "appears to have passed into the pages of history."

Only a year ago, Khrushchev was threatening war over Berlin. But Brandt told a gathering of liberal leaders in Stockholm the other day that "the pressure is off Berlin."

In an aside to Minnesota's Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Brandt also remarked that President Kennedy's Berlin visit had bolstered the city "as if you had sent in powerful new forces."

Both men were among the liberal leaders who accepted invitations from Swedish Prime Minister Tag Erlander to attend a private, two-day pow-wow.

At one closed-door session, Brandt also acknowledged that Khrushchev, in going his separate way from the Chinese Communists, appears to be heading down the path of peaceful coexistence. The Berlin mayor then asked Sen. Humphrey what he thought of Khrushchev's latest moves.

Humphrey pointed out that the Communists have been preaching peace and leading anti-bomb demonstrations since 1946, but that Khrushchev had maneuvered the Chinese Communists into taking a stand in favor of nuclear war.

Such a stand is directly counter to fifteen years of Communist propaganda, which, Humphrey said, has made an impact on the world, particularly on the masses of Asia, Africa, and Latin America.

Humphrey predicted that Khrushchev will now use the issue in his ideological struggle with the Chinese Reds. He will be able to argue that the Chinese have deserted the Communist campaign for peace.

"Khrushchev has trapped the Chinese Communists into coming out against a test ban, which puts them on the side of death and destruction," observed the Minnesota senator.

He also told the Stockholm gathering that Russia doesn't have the means to continue both the arms race and economic development.

Khrushchev and Humphrey

During his own marathon discussion with Khrushchev in 1958, he recalled that he had warned the premier: "You have had it easy the past few years with the Republicans running the United States. When my crowd takes over, we are going to run you right out of the ball park."

True to his prediction, Humphrey said that President Kennedy had stepped up spending on missiles, arms, and economic projects. This had forced Khrushchev to choose whether to speed up his own military program at the expense of economic development.

"We have the means to indulge in both the arms race and economic development," Humphrey told the liberal leaders. "The Russians don't."

British labor leader Harold Wilson was skeptical, however, about America's economic strength. He recalled that Britain had tried to finance world development in the 1950s but that the drain had been too great. The United States, he said, was now discovering the same problem.

"No country is rich enough any longer to be the world's banker," he said.

Wilson suggested that an international combine should finance the undeveloped countries, establishing international credits, rather than relying on a single country.

The group agreed to appoint a committee, representing the United States, Britain, Germany, and Scandinavia, to study the free world's economic problems. The liberal leaders will gather again in Germany at the end of the year to renew the discussion.

DEAR POLLY — If you have small children who love flowers and pick just the ones you would like to leave growing in the garden, plant a "children's row" of flowers. Then they can pick their own bouquets and will not snap any of your favorite blooms. It can also teach them how to grow and care for flowers. — NORA

DEAR POLLY — Because of poor eyesight grandma always had a hard time keeping track of various articles in her handbag. We solved the problem by stringing everything — purse, keys, comb, mirror, etc. — on a long thin chain. Each article was spaced just so far apart and the chain was attached to the inside lining of the handbag. Now nothing is lost and she can "feel" for a needed item when it is wanted and need not spill out the contents of her bag to search for it. — MRS. E. L. R.

GIRLS — I know some grand-mas, including myself, who would do well to adopt this purse filing system. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Here is a handy tip for those who knit. A neater way to roll a ball of wool so that it will not roll away or tangle is to have it pull from the center rather than the outside of the ball. To do this, start in the usual manner for rolling a ball of wool. Instead of winding all the wool around the tiny center ball at once, wind about a yard in one direction. Then pull out one end for about two inches and wind the rest in the opposite direction. When the ball is completed, pull on the end that hangs out and the rest follows as you need it. — GOLDIE

DEAR POLLY — When you paint window frames, paint the curtain rods the same color. This makes the rods nearly unnoticeable. — MRS. G. R.

GIRLS — To me, matching curtain rods and window frames are a "must." When draw curtains are open and an expanse of rod shows between the open curtains, the effect of matching rods and frames is much more pleasing when the rod and frame are the same colors. I used varnish with stain in it on the rods in my den where the woodwork is stained pine. It is worth taking the rods down and painting them to match the frames even if they are not being done at the same time. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I fill a flat plastic shampoo bottle with water and keep it in the freezer section of my refrigerator to use as an ice bag. When I am through with the "bag," I just put it back in the freezer and it is ready for the next time I need it. — MRS. J. L.

GIRLS — PLEASE sign your names and full addresses so your hint will have a chance of being used and a Polly Dollar can safely reach you. Some good suggestions have had to go by the board simply because of inadequate identification. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My father deserves the credit for this hint. Latch on to your old purses. They make wonderful carry-alls for those smaller car tools that bang and knock around in the car trunk. We like the longer purse with fullness at the top and one that opens wide. I also keep one for my small household tools. No hunting and fetching — P. F.

FINDING THE WAY

Disturbing Paradoxes

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Robert Browning once said that paradoxes comfort while they mock. We live in a time which illustrates the situation in every day's events. There was a time when the paradox existed in the fact that the people of the Christian faith could be described as "sorrowful yet always rejoicing; as poor yet making many rich; as having nothing yet possessing all things." We have the reversal of this in our situation.

Our paradox is that we have the finest media of communication in history and yet we have difficulty in communicating with groups within our own cities. The launching of an astronaut can be viewed by millions; news can be telecast and literally bounced by Telstar to the nations of the earth.

At this very moment cultural groups may find it difficult to speak with one another in their own neighborhoods. Families may discover that it is impossible to speak to fellow-members in their own household. The technical advance comforts; the lack of understanding mocks.

A parallel paradox resides in our exploration of space while we permit an ignorance of our own inner selves. Think of the wealth of idealism in this country as illustrated by sacrificial missionaries and adventurous Peace Corpsmen.

Yet at this very moment we have been unable to understand our own selves. So hundreds of missionaries discover their work hampered because a few churches closed their doors to their fellow-men in our own country.

We are looking farther into space and missing our own selves. And when we go to the moon we shall have to take our own selves!

We are comforted by our ability to reach out; we are mocked by our inability to reach in.

Walk around your own hometown and you may be shocked at the ugliness to which you've become accustomed and which you would not like a tourist from Europe to see.

We are comforted by the knowledge that we can protect our cities; we are mocked by our ignoring of that which we protect.

The list of paradoxes grows. The problems of freedom and conformism, the challenge of leisure, our liberty from backbreaking toil and our boredom, our credulousness of every kind of will-o'-the-wisp and our lack of faith—these and others taunt us.

We have many self-contradictions. Yet there is still the reversal of our agony.

We can share love as easily as hate; we can inspire as quickly as we discourage; we can communicate truth as readily as falsehood; we can be held by the very power of God which we cannot understand.

We are comforted by the presence of God, a presence that haunts us. That is our paradox.

Sore Lymph Nodes Signal The Presence of Infection

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am 60 years old. The lymph nodes on the right side of my neck get swollen and sore. After several days this clears up but it always comes back again later. What causes this and what should I do?

A—The lymph nodes all over the body act as a screen or sieve to trap disease germs and keep them from spreading to vital organs. Whenever infection is stopped in a lymph node, the node itself becomes hard and sore. The lymph nodes in the neck receive blood and lymph from all parts of the head. Often when one of these nodes is tender it is impossible to find a sore on the scalp, in nose, or in the mouth.

Canker sores and fever blisters almost always cause soreness in these lymph nodes. When the source of the infection clears up the lymph node returns to normal. If the source can be found it should be treated. If not and the soreness in the lymph node is severe you can apply hot towels for 20 to 30 minutes, two or three times a day.

Q—I am a 50-year-old woman and would like to know what makes me belch after almost every meal?

A—Belching after meals is due almost entirely to swallowing air along with your food. Some people swallow more air than others. This is especially true if they eat hurriedly without chewing their food thoroughly and swallow each mouthful with a wash of fluid. Often when a person has a feeling of fullness in the stomach and tries to belch he swallows a large amount of air thus pumping the stomach up like a balloon. It is sometimes hard to differentiate between the noise of this type of air swallowing and a true belch. A hiccup is an example of involuntary air swallowing.

Q—When I had my twins the smaller came first and the second one suffocated. It was a breech baby. They were born three weeks prematurely. Is this common? If I become pregnant again would I be likely to have twins? Could heavy housework cause premature birth? If I had twins again would it be possible for both to live?

A—When twins are present in the uterus, premature delivery is more likely than when there is a single fetus. Continuous overwork in the last three months of pregnancy has been known in some cases to cause premature delivery but there are many other causes that must be considered. In any delivery a breech presentation carries an increased risk of suffocation of the baby if delivery is prolonged. Some women appear to be especially likely to have twins more than once. The diagnosis of twins can usually be made before delivery and adequate preparations made to save the lives of both babies.

We the Women

Cherish 'Recipe' for Living

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Most women have a card file or notebook filled with the very best recipes of their friends, recipes under such headings as "Mary's Brownies," "Dot's barbecue chicken," "Alice's upside-down cake."

These borrowed recipes in time become their own prize recipes. They never hesitate to say to a friend who has served them something special, "I've got to have this recipe. Will you give it to me?"

Why don't we women, then, go a step further and "borrow" our friends' most pleasing traits and outstanding qualities?

We might hesitate to ask for such personal "recipes" as, "How have you managed to get your work so well organized that you always seem to have plenty of time for yourself?" . . . "Busy as you are, how are you able to do so many nice things for so many different people?" . . .

"What have you done to make your family such a happy, companionable, loyal clan?"

You might not want to ask these questions, though there would be no harm done. But you could, by putting your mind to it, figure out just how your friends have happened to succeed in special ways, or just how they have developed their outstanding qualities.

Once you have come up with the answers, what's to prevent you from borrowing their best "recipes" for living?

The only card file you would need is a mental one. It would serve to remind you that the traits and qualities you admire in your friends you could — and should — borrow to make your own life easier and more pleasant, and to make yourself more like the person you really want to be.

Death rates from accidents in the United States is about 85 per cent 100,000 or seven times the toll taken by pneumonia and tuberculosis.

By Murry Engle

Laughing and singing, a dynamic giant, the Missouri State Fair, rises each year behind the summer night. Before it sleeps again, people from all over the land are drawn to its vitality.

Its heart is different things to different people. Children move toward the lights and music of the pulsing, caloped midway; men want to see its machinery and animals and fast horses and cars, whirring around the track; women like its gardens and fountains. The heart of the fair for many women is the home economics department or the fine arts department.

These Sedalia women have entered their personal masterpieces in fair competition many times and have been winners:

Fresh bread, baking in an old wood stove, is a memory of the childhood of Mrs. Otto Decker, 709 West Tenth. When she was little, she was fascinated by the entire process of making fresh bread: from making the "starter" to the mixing, to kneading, to risings, to baking, to the table.

Her mother baked for the family twice a week and the bread was served with country butter, homemade jellies and preserves.

Mrs. Decker liked the freshness of the bread so much she would pinch off a small portion of dough, just as the bread was put into the oven. As soon as it was removed, she would pull off some more, before it had time to cool.

The memory of bread baking is kept alive by Mrs. Decker, for she bakes something almost every day. Her husband comes home to the fragrance of fresh baking. Her daughters, Mrs. Raymond Harmon and Mrs. Jess Hageman, each have four children. She wants them to remember, as she does, fresh baked goods. When she bakes, she calls her daughters and their unvarying reply is, "I'll be right over!"

Rolls and bread and biscuits are entered often in the Missouri State Fair by Mrs. Decker. Proof of her proficiency is in the blue ribbons she has taken home. Each year, for the last three years, in addition to her ribbons and award money, she has received 100 pounds of flour. Each ten-pound bag lasts Mrs. Decker a month.

"I've never recovered from the love of the delicious smell and taste of bread baking," says Mrs. Decker. She has given that love to many other people through her efforts in the kitchen. A nice compulsion to have!

"Dear Mary O'Malley," a white-haired aunt of Hal Boyle, AP columnist, used to visit across the street from Mrs. Ralph Brown's family when she was a child in her hometown. She helped Jennie Brown knit her first sweaters.

Jennie's grandmother required her to sit down some time every day and knit. She says she remembers vividly, that if she dropped a stitch or made an error of some kind, her fingers received a thump from her grandmother's thimble. To this day, when she occasionally makes a mistake, she recalls the thimble wacking her fingers.

"When I start knitting, I forget everything else," says Jennie. Six years ago she had a stroke. For a while, she was confined to her home. The doctor said, "Find something to do." She thought, "What on earth will it be?" and remembered her knitting.

Knitting proved to be good therapy. Jennie began to get well. Being creative, she had cooked, fashioned embroidery, baskets and other handiwork and placed them in competition in the fair—winning awards. She decided to enter her knitting. Her bow-knot, cable stitch and other patterned sweaters have been responsible for her receiving several awards. This year, Jennie's work will be at the fair again. She will enter a decorated Christmas candle, and a pair of knitted child's mittens.

Christmas on a submarine in off-shore Hawaiian waters could be a lonely holiday. Mrs. Kirtley Salmons' son, who was on a sub there last Christmas, felt closer to home. His near-100 crewmates possibly did too. Mrs. Salmons had sent the crew a 25-pound box of fruit cake, candy and cookies.

"It cost $7 or $8 to mail, but it was worth it. I like to send enough for all his friends." A summer box of delicacies from the Salmons kitchen will be on its way soon to her son who is now attending sub school in California.

Goldie Salmons and her husband also have five daughters. The five are married and live away from home.

WITH DELIGHT IN HER EYES, Mrs. Otto Decker, 709 West Tenth, holds a pie plate filled with her home-baked rolls. On the counter top in her bright kitchen are more rolls and fresh bread, just removed from the oven. She creates, with the baked goods, memories for her husband, her two daughters and her eight grandchildren. (Democrat-Capitol photographs)

ACCUMULATED SINCE THE 30's, these are 229 winning ribbons Mrs. Kirtley Salmons has been awarded at the Missouri State Fair. The others, which being the total well over 300, are packed away. Mrs. Salmons has not entered the fair for three years, because of her health, but expects to return with entries in 1964.

Unusual Working Conditions

By WILLIAM GOVER
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP)—For really getting things done, Harvey Schmidt and Tom Jones differ sharply about the best place to be.

Says Schmidt, who composes music and draws pictures: "I've never found a better work spot than an empty Sunday School room."

Notes Jones, who writes lyrics: "To clear my mind, I like to put on an aqualung and lie at the bottom of a swimming pool for a half hour."

A good part of the time, however, they manage to keep in touch sufficiently to function effectively as one of the show world's most impressive young creative partnerships. They are now completing an arduous eight-year trek from the one Star State to the Great White Way.

Jones, a lanky, bespectacled 35-year-old from Coleman, Tex., and Schmidt, an amiable 33-year-old Dallas native, are the melody authors of "110 in the shade," the caper starring Hal (Mark Twain) Holbrook, Inga Swenson and Stephen Douglass which is scheduled for an Oct. 24 Broadway premier.

The Texas tandem staked impressive claim to attention with "The Fantasticks," a romantic romp now in its fourth year off-Broadway. Besides having grossed three-quarters of a million dollars in a 150-seat playhouse, the show has been reproduced in more than 100 cities from Alaska to South Africa.

Such success won the admiration of David Merrick, a leading producer who has sometimes lamented the death of promising domestic talents. Schmidt and Jones won assignment to "110 in the shade" alongside N. Richard Nash, who is basing the book for the musical on his play, "The Rainmaker."

The pair met at the University of Texas in 1950. Among their classmates were Pat Hingle, Rip Torn, Kathryn Grant and Jayne Mansfield, a coed of whom Jones has only a vague recollection. They wrote campus shows and Word Baker, another student, joined the Jones-Schmidt alliance.

The trio headed for New York in 1955. Their hopes were for the Times Square bigtime, but eventually a more modest start downtown with "The Fantasticks" seemed feasible.

For a producer they found Lore Noto, and bit by bit he accumulated the necessary $16,500 from 57 backers. The contrast of that adventure with present activities gives them occasional pause.

From Miner's Lamp to Footlights

By HAROLD SHEEMAN

TAPPAN, N. Y. — Squinting, pug-faced Harry Bellaver started his career digging in the ground—and he still is.

Bellaver, 58, spent his early years in the coal mining town of Hillsboro, Ill. He dug that black stuff for five years until he swapped his miner's lamp for the theater footlights.

Now resting after concluding four years in front of the Naked City cameras, Bellaver is still digging—this time with a garden-er's trowel in the lush earth around his modest, two-story home near the Hudson River.

Bellaver fondles his tomato plants with the delicacy of a surgeon. And he rhapsodizes over the progress of his rose bushes and geraniums.

This may seem like an odd role for the man who, as a police sergeant, chased actor-crooks around the Lower East Side's concrete for so long. But Bellaver is a man who specializes in all roles because he obviously loves the theater. "Fact is," said Bellaver, blowing cigarette smoke in the direction of the string beans, "I never have been typed in 35 years of acting. I've played Indians, Eskimos, kindly fathers and gangsters."

"I admit that after all these Naked Cities a lot of people may think of me as a cop, but I'm not worried. I'm heading for Minneapolis soon to tape a Route 66 show. I play a public relations agent who's fed up with his job."

Bellaver's trek from the coal pits began when he worked for a United Mine Workers' Union workers' school.

"The only way to get any men there was to present little skits. They were terrible, but they got me on my way—to the Hedgerow Theater, in Pennsylvania, as the lead in 'The Hairy Ape.'"

Four years and 75 acting roles later, Bellaver hit Broadway, then Hollywood ("Love Me or Leave Me," "Sadie Thompson," "From Here to Eternity," to name a few.)

During the summer, Bellaver may be found on any day sweeping the barn, burning rubbish or moving furniture at the local Rockland County Playhouse, a summer stock theater. "I suppose I donate my time because I simply like being around theaters," said Bellaver. "Besides, the kids need encouragement. I know I needed it when I was starting." Bellaver plans to appear there in a benefit performance of Shaw's "Arms and the Man" with his actress wife Gertrude.

The Bellavers have two daughters: Vaughan, 31, wife of a New York theatrical agent, and Lee, 24, a lyric soprano hopefully destined to carry on the family name in American theater.

Bellaver met his wife 35 years ago at Hedgerow, when her name was . . .

"Say, what WAS your maiden name, honey?" he called into the next room.

"Smith."

"That's right—Smith," he said with a grin. "It's been a long time."

downtown businessmen to secure three buildings at Second and Ohio for the city's 14th off-street lot. The buildings would cost $90,500 with lot construction costs to be added.

Several councilmen noted while the 14th parking lot proposal is popular with downtown businessmen, Sedalia's citizens are apparently not as enthusiastic.

"This parking lot is suicide out in the wards," one councilman said.

The city's current bonded indebtedness on the parking system amounts to $455,000, according to a financial statement published Sunday.

Kellenberg after hearing discussion from the councilmen listed items that would be included in his cost proposal. These include zoning, off-street parking, land use, a study of the central business area with emphasis on parking needs, urban renewal, fire protection, capital improvements and parks.

The survey will not touch on the school system and will dwell only lightly on the park system, concentrating on growing needs for recreational area in the southwest part of the city.

Urban renewal and a capital improvements program would be studied for feasibility in the future. A land use projection extending about two miles outside the city's perimeter is required under the federal aid schedule, Kellenberg noted the land use study would be especially helpful in future annexations to the city.

Kellenberg estimated the survey would require one year to complete.

Present at the Hare & Hare meeting were Mayor Stuer, Councilmen Carl Meyer, R. N. Snavely, Walter Jesse, Otis Wiley, Ed Neighbors, J. C. Griffin, R. W. Cunningham, city engineer, Virgil Herrick, chairman of the city zoning and planning commission, and Sam Boyle, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce is considering an industrial potential survey to be made by Midwest Research Institute, Kansas City. If done concurrently, Kellenberg said the Hare & Hare study and the research institute's survey would save some duplication.

A representative of the Midwest Research Institute was scheduled to attend, but was unable to do so.

4-H's

ing, the spotlights in a bucket used on the farm, and the cornic light were shown.

An assortment of fresh vegetables were on display, grown by the 4-H's, and many lovely garden flowers.

When it comes to cooking and baking, the 4-H girls — and boys, as well, lived up to the reputation of the farm people for excellent food preparation. Some of these were probably town youngsters, too, though, for the 4-H Clubs are no longer just rural, they are for town kids as well.

There were delicious looking cakes, cookies, breads, rolls, sweet rolls, biscuits.

"There is nothing," commented one of the judges, who had just left the biscuits to go to perhaps a cake or cookies, "that tastes worse than cold biscuits."

Canned fruit, vegetables, preserves and pickles looked appetizing in the glass jars. And here, the 4-H members displayed clever ways to arrange canned goods or cookies in baskets, jars, and boxes for gifts. One was in a little house with "Hi, Neighbor" on top. Pillows seemed to be one of the most popular things for the youngsters to make and they were made of all kinds of materials. Some of them were knit, some were made of banana handkerchiefs, red and blue combined, some were of print and other materials.

There were a big collection of knots, a collection of insects and the Outdoors Club, new this year, had fishing flies and leaf prints on both paper and plaster paris.

Funny little animals were made from socks, there were ironing aids, pot holders, aprons, waste baskets, quilts, rugs, pictures.
